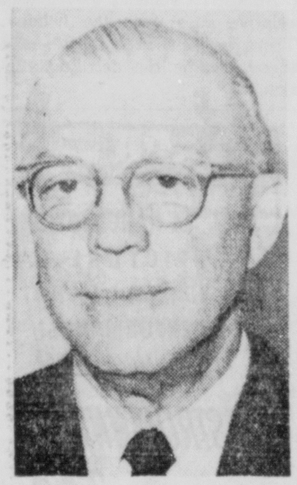
Scranton Reports Milton Eisenhower Will Nominate Him

Governor Says Ike Brother Is 'First Choice' For Task

CHICAGO (UPI)—Gov. William W. Scranton announced today that Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower will nominate him for the presidency next week and that ex-President Dwight D. Eisenhower "was delighted to hear it."

Scranton, whose forces have tried and failed to win the open support of General Eisenhower, conferred with the ex-president for 20 minutes by long distance telephone before making the announcement to a news conference. (See also, page 6.)



MILTON EISENHOWER
Ike 'Delighted'

Later, in a taped television interview, the Pennsylvania governor commented that General Eisenhower "hasn't endorsed me, but he certainly has given me plenty of encouragement."

CLOSE ADVISER

He said Doctor Eisenhower, who is president of Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, had been "my first choice" to place his name in nomination at the Republican National Convention in San Francisco. Asked whether he would have liked General Eisenhower to do the job, Scranton said "I never thought of this."

He added "I don't think we should ask him to nominate an individual."

Doctor Eisenhower, who is considered one of his brother's closest advisers, has been a Scranton booster almost from the start. But General Eisenhower has remained firm in his expressed neutrality in the battle between Scranton and Sen. Barry M. Goldwater for the Republican presidential nomination.

NO STATEMENT

An Eisenhower aide at Gettys-Pa., said there would be no statement "of any kind" from the general concerning his brother's new role in the Scranton drive. Doctor Eisenhower was not immediately available for comment and aides said there was no assurance that he would have any statement to make later.

The two brothers will have a chance to compare notes on the campaign when they travel together in General Eisenhower's private railroad car to the convention next week. Doctor Eisenhower is a member of the Maryland GOP delegation. His brother is not a delegate.

The announcement that Doctor Eisenhower would stand up for him at San Francisco got the last grass roots bids of Scranton's brief presidential campaign off to a brisk start. The Pennsylvanian plans to spend two precious days barnstorming in old fashioned whistle stop fashion through Illinois before pushing on to an appearance before the GOP platform committee in San Francisco.

Annex Plan Is Approved For Novato

The Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission today authorized the City of Novato to proceed with Loma Verde and Ignacio, despite pleas by Frank E. Galli, "mayor of Ignacio," for more time.

Novato Mayor Robert D. Carrow explained the city could not wait if the question on annexation is to be decided by voters of the area at the Nov. 3 general election.

To please Galli, the official name of the annexation was made the Ignacio-Loma Verde annexation.

Galli said he felt owners of commercial property along Highway 101 would need time to consider problems of annexation, and that owners of undeveloped land north of the Loma Verde subdivision might not want to be included.

"Mr. Galli, just look at that map," said Chairman Bert W. Broemmel, waving a hand map of Novato which shows the city line dodging in and out around subdivisions and parcels of undeveloped land. "This commission was formed to avoid having the job done at Sacramento." Broemmel said leaving out territory would create more problems for both the city and the county.

Commissioner Byron W. Leydecker moved approval of the 642.5-acre annexation, with restriction that the approval be contingent on no boundary change being made by the city council.

Ordinarily, the city council has the power to exclude up to five per cent of the land area of an annexation. The commission action would force the city to accept the territory as presented eoday.

Fidel Reported Offering 'Deal' To Washington

NEW YORK (UPI) — Cuban premier Fidel Castro has offered to withdraw aid from Latin American revolutionaries if the United States will stop abetting Anti-Castro elements, the New York Times reported today.

The Times said Castro, in a three-day, 18-hour interview with correspondent Richard Eder in Havana, said he is willing to consider some international means to supervise such a joint commitment although he did not think this would be necessary.

Castro said as a gesture of good faith "to avoid incidents," he would order the Cuban guards at the Guantanamo Naval base pulled back to a distance of serveral hundred yards from the fence.

Marin Life Back To Normal After Big Holiday Weekend

Marinites today settled down to summer routine again after an event-packed Fourth of July weekend.

The Marin Art and Garden Show in Ross drew more than 14,000 visitors Saturday and Sunday.

Foggy skies cleared Saturday afternoon and remained clear for the rest of the weekend, ending the fears of many that scheduled fireworks displays would be seen only by airplane pilots.

More than 2,000 persons watched an invitational fireworks display at the Peacock Gap Tennis and Swimming Club at McNear's Beach. Cars lined the road to the beach from San Pedro Road while others watched the spectacular 45-minute display of rapid-fire pyrotechnics from the club. Adding to the excitement was the firing of a small cannon from the deck of a private power launch docked nearby.

An audience of an estimated 35,000 watched the fireworks in Corte Madera Saturday night, sponsored by the Larkspur-Corte Madera Joint Recreation Commission, Sgt. David McIntosh of the police department reported.

Not until 11 p.m., one and one-half hours after the display ended, were police able to unscramble traffic in the area. The audience was spread into the hill areas surrounding the town park where about 2,000 persons convened.

The program was a "great success," Albert E. Kogler, chairman of the commission reported. More than 1,000 picnickers gathered in the park for dinner and an organ concert before the fireworks, partially financed by local merchants, were set off.

An excellent turnout was reported at Stinson Beach's weekend carnival at the Community Center Hall and the second annual Seadrift Regatta on Seadrift Lagoon.

GI Shot, Robbed In East Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — An American soldier was shot in a quiet side street of Communist-ruled East Berlin last night and found by a passing U. S. officer.

The wounded soldier was brought back to West Berlin and placed in a military hospital where his condition was described as satisfactory.

A U.S. Army spokesman said, "The motive for the shooting was apparently robbery as the soldier reported his money was missing."

Officers Baffled Over Mystery Woman In Sea

Identity Is Unknown; No Missing Reports

Law enforcement officers were baffled today by a sea mystery: the identity of an expensively clad, bejeweled woman found floating in the ocean about six miles off Point Reyes Saturday evening.

The woman, in her 30s apparently was a drowning victim. The body had been in the water 24 to 48 hours before it was found, reported Coroner Frank J. Keaton.

She may have fallen off a pleasure yacht, but there has been no recent report of any shipboard accident in which a woman toppled overboard.

Authorities allso were puzzled because they have no missing person report on anyone answering her description.

San Francisco police today were checking steamship companies on the chance that she may have been a passenger on a liner.

The only lead authorities had today was a fingerprint taken from the right thumb, which has been sent to Sacramento for possible identification, Keaton said.

BODY SPOTTED

Crew members of the fishing vessel Catalina Girl, spotted the body floating face down about four miles south of the Drake's Bay buoy about 5 p.m. Saturday.

A ski parka, tied and buttoned tightly, formed an air pocket and served as a float, Keaton reported.

The woman was five foot, four inches, 125 pounds, with brown eyes and light brown hair tinted blonde.

STORE LABEL

She also was wearing a hooded, black nylon ski parka bearing the label of Ohrbach's department store in Los Angeles; a tan wool knit sweater from the exclusive design shop of Giovanni de Firenzi; a red, white and black western style shirt; black wool capri pants; white leather boots, and black socks.

Keaton said he hopes to establish her identity either through fingerprints, dental charts, or the clothing.

Toxology tests were started to determine the exact time of death and whether there were any contributing factors other than drowning.

Sgt. Robert F. Bertrand of the sheriff's office said the woman had bruises on her right lower leg and knee, a skinned spot on the bridge of her nose, and marks

This Term Should Be For Life

By ALAN CUNNINGHAM

It was a simple ceremony, not unlike many other civil weddings.

There was nervous small talk and laughter before the judge arrived to perform the brief ritual. Afterwards, the bride and groom embraced tearfully.

But the tears had special meaning for this couple, married as they were Saturday in the office of Marin County Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos.

The bridegroom, Humberto Zelaya Jr., did not know until today whether he would ever be free to join his bride. Zelaya, a 29-year-old San Quentin Prison parolee, had pleaded guilty to the $30 armed robbery of a service station attendant in Alto on May 13. With a prior felony conviction, he could have received a life sentence.

The wait will be long, but not that long. Judge Richard M. Sims

Civil Rights Law Leads To Closing Of Large Hotel

JACKSON, Miss (UPI) — The Robert E. Lee hotel, one of Jackson's three largest hotels and a landmark for 30 years, closed its doors today rather than integrate under the new civil rights law.

The action came after three other downtown hotels complied with the new federal law and admitted civil rights leaders, including eight national board members of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP).

Negro leaders ate breakfast at one of the newly-integrated hotels today and held a strategy meeting before leaving on a tour of racial hot spots in Mississippi.

Gammill Co., owner of the 250-room Robert E. Lee said in a statement that "due to certain provisions of the recently-enacted civil rights act, we feel, as owners of private property, that we can no longer operate this hotel as a public facility."

Murder Suspects: 'Instant Playboys'

By ROSS DAVIS

An image of two instant playboys, blundering their way into a new world of credit-card wealth, was related today in the Donald G. Corbett Jr. murder trial in Marin Superior Court.

The testimoney also revealed the alleged launching of a cross-country luxury flight by the two men — co-defendants Robert Lee Jones and John Lee King — and involving a plush yellow convertible car, invitations to strangers for drinks and a Las Vegas, Nev. trip, a flight to Miami Beach, and ultimately a jaunt to Hawaii.

All of which, witnesses testified, were financed by credit accounts of the victim.

William C. Jorgensen, youthful employ of Avis Rent-a-Car System in San Francisco, testified he was dispatched about 5 p.m. on March 28 — the day following the Sausalito murder — with a 1964 Lincoln Continental convertible to the Black Magic Bar in San Francisco.

He said Jones and King, who had ordered the car, were seated at the bar, having drinks. They were clad, he said, in sports shirts and "Ivy League" pants. He said King was sociable, inviting him to join them for a drink.

Jorgensen said he declined because he was working, and the three went to the waiting car. Jones, wearing dark sun glasses, got into the back seat, he said, and King got into the car's front

Mother Abandons Baby, 3, At Mill Valley Bus Depot

A Mill Valley mother last night abandoned her 3-year-old son at the Greyhound bus depot after she had taken him there with an acquaintance "to pick up some toys."

The boy was taken to the police station and at 11:30 p.m. yesterday was picked up by a probation officer and placed in a temporary county receiving home at San Rafael.

In a note left behind, the mother, Mrs. Megin Whiting, 26, said: "I, Megin Whiting, hereby abandon my natural son, Davon Whiting, to first his father, E. Lane Whiting, or to Patrick Fitzsimmons to raise as his own son or, no other course being open, to the State of California and the love and care of our Lord Buddha."

Christopher Broman of 272 Buena Vista Avenue told police that he took Mrs. Whiting and her son to the depot, where she said she was to pick up some toys. At the depot, he said, she tried to climb aboard a bus but he stopped her. Mrs. Whiting then ran away.

Broman took the boy to the police station at 8:45 p.m.

Mrs. Whiting had been staying with Fitzsimmons at 22 Washington Park, where the note was left, police said.

Officers attempted unsuccessfully to locate the mother, then the probation department, who picked the boy up at 11:30 p.m., saying they would locate a foster home until other arrangements could be made.

An all-points bulletin was put out by police for Mrs. Whiting, who is wanted for child abandonment.

Rocky Reports Bomb Threats

NEW YORK (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller last night charged that his supporters were plagued by more than 200 bomb threats during his presidential primary campaign in California.

Rockefeller, who lost the primary to Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, said the bomb threats were received primarily at his campaign offices.

"Every office got them. The women workers, particularly, would get calls at night—threats, vile language," he said, adding that one woman "almost went to pieces" as a result of the calls.

More Information On Vietnam Is Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor's assumption of U. S. leadership in South Vietnam may bring more accurate — and perhaps more balanced — information to Washington on the course of the war.

Reliable assessments from the field are imperative if the government is to be guided properly in its decisions on the conduct of U. S. efforts to help the South Vietnamese overcome Communist rebellion.

Certain key American officials here say they have been skeptical about the estimates and reports sent in from South Vietnam.

This is not to suggest they have felt U. S. military and diplomatic authorities in Saigon have tried to delude the White House, State Department and the Defense Department.

But some Washington officials have doubts the way the information is gathered, the sources, and the judgments made on the basis of this information.

They acknowledge that accurate assessments are difficult in a war characterized by hundreds of small unit actions and a country whose peasant population is widely scattered through jungle, mountain and swampy delta.

It is known that Taylor, now on his way to take over as U. S. ambassadore in South Vietnam, intends to look very hard at the sources of information.

It is known, too, that Taylor believes the views of all observers should be reflected in the reports to Washington. This would give Washington the benefit of varying viewpoints from both soldiers and civilians on the scene.

The four-star general, who retired as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff to take over leadership of the entire U. S. effort in Vietnam, expects to return to Washington about once every three months to report directly to President Lyndon B. Johnson and other top policy makers.

But, it is known, he has no intention of looking over the shoulder of Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U. S. military commander in South Vietnam.

Taylor's job, as he sees it, is to pull together the entire U. S. civilian and military program into one effective package.

World Hails Rights Bill —But Warns Of Struggle

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Newspapers around the world hailed the U.S. civil rights law yesterday as a triumph for American democracy, but warned it may take half a century to put it into effect and will be—as one said—a "great test of fire" for the United States.

The late President John F. Kennedy was given global credit for its passage. In such diverse points as London and Mexico City it was called his greatest monument.

Moscow and Peking — predictably—took a gloomy view.

Tass reported from Washington that "racists" have started a campaign to prevent the law taking effect.

"Terror and violence against the Negro population in the Southern states have noticeably increased of late," the official Soviet agency wrote.

Peking's New China News Agency called the bill fraudulent and added that American Negroes "realize the necessity of using violence" to obtain what they want.

Extensive dispatches from the United States gave a full account of the difficulties facing the law to readers around the world.

Western Europe's newspapers did not expect that the law would change things overnight.

Typical was the comment of West Germany's Frankfurter allegemeine: "Racial prejudice won't be killed by a law. But laws can help. The civil rights bill which President Johnson signed into law cannot end a depressing history of violations of human dignities. But it is a stage in the long process of the integration of the American nation."

In Spain, dispatches from the United States ran into thousands of words. The Falangist organ Arriba commented: "Now begins for American democracy a great test of fire."

In Taipei, Formosa, the United Daily News described the civil right law as "an epoch-making event in American history," but added: "It might require half a century or a century to correct the old practice of racial discrimination."

Great Society Progress Being Made—Johnson

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Lyndon B. Johnson is "highly pleased and gratified" at Congress' record, but he is cooking up new proposals he feels will move the country toward his concept of a Great Society.

Johnson believes enactment of the sweeping civil rights law has cleared the way for tackling such problems as metropolitan area growth; the growth of interlocking federal, state and local responsibilities and finances; health; education, and gearing the governmental structure to an age of science and technology.

HOLIDAY STAY

White House sources relayed Johnson's views to newsmen covering his holiday stay here and said the chief executive already has a number of task forces at work on long-term planning.

Until the various studies are finished, the president is not about to put a price tag on the proposals that ultimately may be submitted to Congress for new legislation.

Johnson has been trying to project the image of an economy-minded administration. But he is represented as feeling that while the people want sound and prudent fiscal management, they also want the government to respond with compassion to human needs.

FOREIGN FIELD

The president has not ruled out the possibility of further civil rights legislation, but no determination can be made, he feels, until the effects of the bill he signed last Thursday are assessed.

In the foreign field, Johnson is claiming to be well satisfied about the transition of new American leadership in South Vietnam, his conference with Greek and Turkish leaders on the critical Cyprus problem and his first meeting with a Latin American chief of state, President Francisco Orlich of Costa Rica.

When he gets back to the White House, Johnson intends to talk with both outside experts and heads of various government departments and agencies about long-term planning in the various domestic fields which he feels need attention.

Kasavubu asked Tshombe to form a government to run the sprawling country for about six months until elections for a new parliament.

Killed Boy, 11, Because Of 'Pity'

PARIS (UPI)—A publicity-loving little man who calls himself "The Strangler" says he killed an 11-year-old French boy because he pitied him.

Lucien Leger, 27, a sad-eyed male nurse, confessed to police yesterday that he smothered young Jean-Luc Taron and then confounded police for 40 days with morbid letters bragging of his crime.

Leger

Leger said he met Jean-Luc May 26 just after the boy had run away from home because of a spat with his parents.

Leger said he followed the boy into the subway, offered to take him to a movie, and finally took him for a ride in his car. At the Verrieres Woods west of Paris, they stopped.

Leger said he was seized with pity for a boy who, like himself, had an unhappy childhood, and had a "desire to kill him."

He said he grabbed Jean-Luc by the throat and threw him onto the moss-covered ground and smothered him. The boy's body was found in the woods May 27.

Traffic Death For Weekend Hits Record

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's traffic deaths during the Fourth of July weekend hit a record toll for a three-day observance of the holiday.

The Associated Press count of deaths on the highway from 6 p.m. Thursday to midnight yesterday was 484. Belated reports were expected to increase the total.

PREVIOUS HIGH

The heavy death toll compared to the previous high of 442, set in a three-day Independence Day holiday period in 1960.

There was a sharp increase in fatalities in the last 24 hours of the 78-hour holiday period, with more than 175 deaths reported.

The National Safety Council had estimated the traffic deaths would total between 450 and 550. The council, until yesterday, had been hopeful that the final total would be below its pre-holiday estimate. But with millions of motorists homeward bound from resorts and vacations, the death rate rose far above the earlier pace.

CALIFORNIA TOLL

The traffic death toll reached a grim 78 in California over the long Fourth of July weekend — the worst in state history.

The previous record was the "Bloody Christmas" of 1951, when 69 persons died in a 78-hour holiday weekend period.

The previous high for an Independence Day was 52, in 1957.

California's weekend toll was by far the highest highway death toll in the country.

The breakdown of holiday deaths:

Traffic	484
Drownings	135
Planes	6
Miscellaneous	84
Total	709

Crops Damaged

BELGRADE (UPI) — Crop damage was estimated at more than 1.3 million dollars yesterday from a series of rain and hail storms in Yugoslavia's Kossovo-Metohija Province. The Tanjug news agency said many fruit orchards were ruined.

A young bird may eat more than its own weight in one single day.

Figures 'Misleading' On Freeway Deaths

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — California traffic experts, with a tinge of bitterness as well as sadness, believe figures can be misleading if not untruthful — when it comes to death on the freeways and streets of this state.

On a holiday weekend when death rode as a partner for a near record number of motorists, California as a state again led the nation in total fatalities.

And Southern California as a region was deadliest of all for drivers and passengers, according to statistics, although perfect driving weather conditions existed.

California led the nation with 76 auto traffic deaths. Southern California tallied 34 auto fatalities.

Asked why, a spokesman for the California Highway Patrol responded:

"It's just that we have more cars carrying more persons over more miles."

The spokesman said there are nine million autos in California, with the largest percentage in heavily populated Southern California where the maze of freeways has greatly aided traffic, at the same time it won international notoriety for its complexity.

About 50 per cent of the fatal accidents investigated by the CHP were single car accidents.

The highway patrol has been conducting an extensive study into possible causes of single car accidents, either over holidays or during normal weekend traffic. The results figure to help traffic control experts everywhere.

"We would like to know if they are caused by fatigue, liquor, carbon monoxide, or persons taking medicine or drugs," an information officer for the CHP said.

About 40 per cent are intersection fatalities, the spokesman said.

Although each year the number of traffic deaths increase, the death rate per mile has been dropping year by year," the same authority said.

Almost all vehicles moved with relative ease over the holiday. There were the exceptions — and these became the deadly statistics.

AFRICA GETS NEW INDEPENDENT STATE

Prime Minister For Country Of Malawi Is Sworn In As Nation Celebrates

BLANTYRE, Malawi (UPI)—Dr. Hastings Banda was sworn in today as the first prime minister of newly independent Malawi by Queen Elizabeth's husband, Prince Philip.

The new nation emerged at midnight last night as Africa's 37th independent state when the Union Jack was hauled down for the last time and the new red, green and black striped flag of Malawi run up the staff.

After handing over the instruments of independence this morning Prince Philip swore in Banda and the rest of his cabinet.

In his speech after the ceremony Banda stressed his favorite themes—his fight for independence, retention of British ties, and his refusal to become embroiled in the cold war.

A capacity crowd of 40,000 in the Blantyre Independence Stadium roared its approval.

In his speech Prince Philip said the queen was sorry she could not attend the celebrations personally. But he added that she prayed for the peace and happiness of the new state.

After welcoming Malawi to the commonwealth Prince Philip warned the audience that independence marked the beginning of the most critical years for the nation.

But he said he was sure Malawi's people would overcome problems of poverty and disease and illiteracy. He said that Malawi could expect setbacks and disappointments but he was sure these would be surmounted.

Tribesmen from throughout the nation staged joyful tribal dances in celebration of independence. Fireworks were shot off and fires were kindled on mountaintops, including 9,847-foot Mount Mlenje, one of Africa's highest peaks.

Fourth Of July Riots Break Out Around U.S.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Police used tear gas, dogs and cattle prods to break up Fourth of July riots by youths at five places from coast to coast.

About 200 persons were arrested. Several officers and rioters were injured.

The riots occurred at Indian Lake, near Bellefontaine, Ohio; Newport, R.I.; Garnett, Kan.; West Yellowstone, Mont., and Pleasanton, Calif.

At Indian Lake, an estimated 5,000 to 10,000 beer-drinking college youths staged boisterous demonstrations Friday and Saturday nights.

"These kids were like a keg of dynamite waiting for something to set them off," a sheriff said.

More than 50 young men were arrested on the two nights. Tear gas was used to quell the rioting.

Authorities said firecrackers thrown into the crowds, injuring several youths, probably triggered the Saturday melee. One police officer suffered a heart attack.

Near Newport, R.I., thousands of youths attending the jazz festival started to whoop it up at a beach party. Beach house doors, beach umbrellas and a lifeguard stand were among items tossed onto a huge bonfire, police said.

About 100 youths were taken to jail when they hurled rocks and other missiles at officers. Police cleared the beach in about 90 minutes.

At Garnett, Kan., about 2,000 beer-drinking youths started a riot on an outdoor dance floor Saturday night. Two officers were burned by exploding cherry bombs.

Thousands had converged on the small Kansas town—population 3,000—for the annual sports car races.

Police dogs bit several persons while helping to herd the unruly crowd to Garnett city park.

Police used electric cattle prods and nightsticks to get things under control.

At West Yellowstone, Mont., about 30 residents used ax handles against a mob of 1,000 teen-agers and college-age youngsters Saturday night after the mob tore down fences, tipped over outdoor toilets and signs, and demonished a trailer for bonfire fuel in the resort town. Four young men were jailed.

At Pleasanton, Calif., the annual Alameda County Fair was disrupted Saturday night after officers tried to send home a half-dozen youths who "had been drinking, were throwing firecrackers, and were shouting and swearing," police said.

Firemen used high pressure hoses on the rioters after a cherry bomb was hurled into a patrol car, injuring a deputy sheriff's leg.

'Anti' Petitions Lead In Larkspur By 6 Signatures

Only six signatures separated the totals on petitions submitted for and against construction of a 12-story retirement residence in Larkspur, according to a final count.

Larkspur city clerk Isabelle Moore said today the total number of signatures on petitions submitted to the city council Wednesday night was 1,833 opposed and 1,827 in favor of a variance and use permit.

The number of Larkspur residents signing, subtracting the names of persons living outside of the city limits, was 1,480 opposed and 1,389 in favor.

Mrs. Moore said she did not check the signatures to determine if they were registered voters, nor did she check for duplications.

Berkeley Youth Hurt When Cycle Hits Car

A 16-year-old Berkeley motorcyclist suffered minor injuries yesterday when his cycle bumped into the rear of a car on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at Pastori Avenue in Fairfax.

Treated for bruises at Marin General Hospital was John Wicker Hunt who apparently was making a right turn onto Pastori Avenue at 3 p.m. when he struck the right rear end of a car driven by Norman Petersen, 39, of Mariele Drive, Fairfax, police said.

Youngster's Body Found In Lake

FRESNO (AP) — The body of 6-year-old Mike Appel of Redondo Beach was found in Lake Edison today in a full scale search.

Undersheriff James Long said divers found the body in about 10 feet of water.

He last was seen alive playing near the lake Sunday. It was presumed he fell in.

The boy and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerald Appel, were camping at Boggy Meadows camp at the 7,200 foot level in Sierra National Forest in northeastern Fresno County.

Men from the Sierra Madre and Riverside search and rescue teams were called in for the search.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

JAIL WEDDING—County jail prisoner Humberto Zelaya Jr. and his bride, the former Mrs. Doris Martin, embrace seconds after they were pronounced man and wife in an unusual ceremony in the sheriff's office Saturday. Moments later, Zelaya was returned to his cell. At left is Mrs. Joseph Josephson, a witness, and in foreground is Mrs. Zelaya's daughter, 6-year-old Leona Martin.

WEDDING

Jr. of Marin Superior Court—perhaps feeling that a wife might help return Zelaya to the straight and narrow path — today sentenced him to a five-year term, to be served concurrently with the previous term, parole of which Zelaya had violated.

Zelaya was first sent to San Quentin in December, 1952, for possession of marijuana and assaulting an officer with a razor blade while in the San Diego Jail awaiting trial.

On Jan. 25, 1956, he was found guilty of assaulting another prisoner, but the sentence was made concurrent with his previous one.

He was paroled in October, 1961, but returned to prison the following January for violation of parole terms. He was again paroled last August—only to be arrested in May for the Alto service station robbery.

His sentence termination is yet to be fixed by the California Adult Authority.

But thew Mrs. Zelaya, who made a determined effort to get permission for the unusual marriage ceremony all this makes no difference.

She is, she declared prepared to wait all her life for her husband to come back to her.

The former Mrs. Doris Martin, she now lives in Santa Rosa, as did Zelaya until his last arrest. She got an annulment of a previous marriage to marry Zelaya.

Now she, her son Marvin, 16, and her daughter Leona, 6, will move wherever they must to be close to Zelaya. And she plans to do all she can to hasten his chances for parole.

Her children were present at the ceremony, performed by Municipal Court Judge Leonard A. Thomas. Undersheriff Eugene Meyer and a deputy stood by. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Josephson of Sebastopol were witnesses.

Before the wedding, Mrs. Martin told of her efforts to obtain permission from the sheriff, the parole office in Santa Rosa, and the California Adult Authority in Sacramento, to whom she wrote a "pleading letter."

Asked why she would marry a man who might go to prison for life, she gave a simple reply:

"Because I love him."

Explaining that Zelaya had not had a real home, even as a child, she expressed her determination to show him that, at last, someone cares what becomes of him.

"He just never had a chance. But he knows he has somebody to turn to."

After exchanging vows in a double ring ceremony, the couple were permitted to remain a few minutes in the sheriff's office—with the undersheriff and deputy still close by.

For now, that was all the "honeymoon" they would have.

TRIAL

seat with him. Jorgensen said the talkative King promptly informed him a porsche automobile was being repaired, and he and Jones wanted the Lincoln to go to Las Vegas.

He then asked Jorgensen if he would be their chauffeur for the trip, Jorgensen said.

Jorgensen said he informed them chauffeurs were available, but no more mention was made of it. The chatty King then said he was an airlines pilot, despite the fact that payment for the car rental was made with a credit card owned by Corbett and including information that Corbett was with Foremost Dairies, it was disclosed.

Ronald Potter, rental agent for Avis, testified that Jorgensen arrived at the Avis office with King and Jones shortly afterward, and King told him they were driving to Las Vegas and also invited him along. Potter said he declined in a joking manner, and the "light conversation" continued a short time.

He said King presented another car rental card for identification and had the Lincoln rental billed to an American Express card. Both cards were made out to Corbett.

Potter added the car, rented for $16 a day and 16 cents per mile, was to be returned to San Francisco the following Monday, March 30, but was instead later found abandoned in Las Vegas.

Fred C. McCollum, Standard Oil Co. employee from Albany, testified to receipt of six tickets from March 24 through March 29 for gasoline. Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales said the first ticket, passed March 24 in Sacramento, bore the true signature of Corbett. The others, passed mainly in Nevada, are forgeries, the prosecution alleges.

Other witness this morning was Harry Wallenberg, special agent for American Express Co. in San Francisco, who testified he investigates alleged criminal offenses with his firm's credit cards.

He said he had 28 charge tickets made on Corbett's card March 29 through April 3. The tickets totaled $1,108.88, he said, and were for motels and airplane tickets in Nevada, Los Angeles, and Miami, Fla., and for luggage and jewelry purchases. Last purchase was of jewelry in Hawaii April 3, Wallenberg testified.

More testimony disclosing the alleged "credit card" flight of the defendants was scheduled this afternoon.

Newspaper Says Scranton Drive Costs Big Money

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Bulletin said today backers of Gov. William W. Scranton "are spending almost $250,000 to nomination."

The Scranton drive for the nomination is costing more than $9,000 a day, the newspaper quoted sources close to the governor.

"The money is being paid out by the Scranton for President Committee for everything from white plastic, beribboned boater hats for girl volunteers to Scranton's $140-a-day 'royal suite'— in the Mark Hopkins Hotel—complete with grand piano, bar and solarium," the newspaper said.

"The daily tab for the Scranton staff accommodations, also at the Mark Hopkins, runs to $1,384."

The Scranton headquarters in San Francisco is run by M. George Mooradian.

Corte Madera Council To Hear Land Report

The Corte Madera Town Council will hear a report today at its 7:30 p.m. meeting on progress toward acquiring property at Tamalpais Drive and Pixley Avenue for construction of a public safety building.

Also on the agenda are appointments to fill vacancies on the park and recreation commission and the board of design.

Planners Recommend New Bay Shoreline

The Marin County Planning Commission today approved, 5-2, a new Richardson Bay bulkhead line which would allow much more filling than proposed by the previous master plan.

In fact, the new line, if approved by the board of supervisors, would allow more filling at the southeast end than proposed in the balance line report of San Francisco engineers Lee and Praszker.

Commission chairman Niels Schultz Jr. said the bulkhead line should be based on the assumption that development of Richardson Bay is going to be by private owners.

He said the plan presented by the Marin conservation league, which called for holding the shoreline back at the line of the old bulkhead line, would be all right if plans existed for immediate public purchase of the underwater lots.

The commission requested that immediate acquisition by a public agency of tidelots outside the proposed pierhead line be required.

Commissioners Felix M. Warburg and William F. Upton voted against the recommendation, which will go before the county board of supervisors at 3 p.m. tomorrow. The two said they did not agree that the principle of a "balance" between the dredged filled land needed to be followed.

Warburg also said he saw no reason why the proposed Saucelito Channel could not be relocated to the west, as requested by the conservation league, thus requiring less dredging.

Schultz said he believed relocating the channel would kill Army Corps of Engineers' plans to dredge the channel up to the harbor at Mill Valley. He said the right of way would have to be purchased.

With the line as approved, the distance across the bay near the Richardson Bay Bridge would be about 1,000 feet, widening to about 1,450 feet across from the peninsula which creates a small bay near DeSilva Island.

The width near the bridge would be about 400 feet less than shown on the original Richardson Bay Master Plan.

At the south end, the line proposed by the commission on the original master plan was maintained. In this area, however, the old line allowed more filling that the Lee and Praszker balance line.

The commission agreed the channel should be dredged to a maximum depth of eight feet at low, and the area between the channel and the west shore to six feet.

The resolution to the supervisors said that undulations should be allowed in the balance line, as long as the property owner retained the same amount of water area overall. In other words, the dredging line could move farther into the bay if small inlets were created to compensate.

A pierhead line was re-established 200 feet outboard of the bulkhead line, as was the case in the original master plan.

Marin Man Booked With Petty Theft

Michael S. Whitaker, 22, of 7 Creek Road, Fairfax, was booked in county jail early today after he was found sleeping in his 1951 model car which he allegedly drove from a Fairfax service station last Thursday without settling a $43 bill for repairs.

L. R. Vincent of 630 North San Pedro Road, San Rafael, owner of the Mobile Service Station at 1789 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, complained, accusing Whitaker of petty theft. Bail was set at $291. Whitaker was scheduled to appear for arraignment in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon.

NEW CASTLE, Pa. (AP)—A series of explosions rocked the American Cyanamid Co.'s explosives and mining chemical department at nearby Edinburg today and touched off a series of fires.

Jameson Memorial Hospital said it had received six injured and St. Francis Hospital at New Castle said it had one injured.

About 250 are employed in the department.

The blast knocked out windows and power lines in the area. Telephone lines to the plant were disrupted.

Court Orders Tax Notices To Be Sent

Marin County Asesssor Bert W. Broemmel must notify Sausalito property owners of the time and place of tax equalization hearings or appear in Marin Superior Court at 3 p.m. tomorrow to show cause why he should not.

Judge Richard M. Sims Jr. issued an alternative writ of mandate Thursday ordering Broemmel to notify the taxpayers.

The petition for a writ was filed by Warren Glass, a member of the Taxation and Assessment Committee of the Sausalito Chamber of Commerce.

Glass contended that Broemmel refuses to comply with the law that he give notice of the equalization hearings during which time protests will be accepted.

As a result of Broemmel's failure to send out notification, confusion exists among the taxpayers, Glass said.

The Sausalito Chamber of Commerce reported that assessed valuation was increased from 500 to 1,000 per cent on many parcels of property.

Some Wild Life Faces Extinction

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department listed today some 60 birds, mammals, fish and reptiles of the United States possibly in danger of extinction.

The list includes the well-known whooping crane who migrations and population are watched carefully, the nene goose of Hawaii, the Arctic polar bear, the southern bald eagle the bighorn sheep and the little deer of the Florida Keys.

The department announced it has named a special scientific team in its Fish and Wildlife Service to make an intensive study aimed at preserving the rare or endangered forms of American wildlife.

"We hope that with man's aid and understanding, the long list of threatened species can be narrowed," Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall said. "The scientific study, we believe, is essential if we are to reverse the trend that has witnessed such a heavy toll of some of our most valuable species since the turn of the century."

Director Daniel H. Janzen of the bureau of sport fisheries and wildlife said that many of the species are in trouble because complex forces of civilization are upsetting delicate life patterns.

He mentioned that some species are being harvested beyond their reproductive capacity, habitat is being destroyed and pollutants resulting from man's activities introduced into nature are silently attacking others.

The department noted that the list was not official and that scientists are not in complete agreement on whether some of the animals named were technically endangered.

The department named 23 birds and 16 mammals which have become extinct. They include the California grizzly, and the rimrock bighorn of California, Oregon and Washington.

On the endangered list were 35 birds, 16 mammals, 6 fish and 3 reptiles.

The endangered list includes the tule white-fronted goose which winters in California, California condor; tule or dwarf elk of California, southern sea otter of Pacific Coast; and the lahontan cutthroat trout in a few Nevada lakes.

Two Leap To Death From Gate Bridge

Fishing and pleasure boat operators, cruising yesterday under the Golden Gate Bridge, looked up to see the bodies of a San Francisco man and woman hurtle through the air.

The two suicide victims were both elderly and retired.

At 11:40 a.m., witnesses saw Elsie Larsen, 72, leave her purse on the bridge sidewalk and climb the railing near the south tower on the east side of the bridge.

Her body was picked up by two San Francisco pleasure boat skippers, John Franucchi and Felix Berta, and taken to the Fort Point Coast Guard station.

At 3-10 p.m., Thomas M. Ducey of San Lorenzo, on board the charter fishing boat, Snafu, looked up to see the body of William Hiram Romine, 68, fall through the air from almost the same spot Mrs. Larsen had jumped.

The skipper of the fishing boat, George Castagnola, picked up the body.

Witnesses said Romine left a camera case on the bridge sidewalk and climbed the railing.

But Sinatra's ringside seat at the fight was unoccupied. His physician, Dr. Leon Khon, said the singer was "overstrained and completely exhausted" and had been ordered to rest.

Khon said that Sinatra was all right today and would fly to Paris as planned.

Woman Hurt As Car Hits Highway Rail

Two San Francisco women suffered minor injuries at 2:20 p.m. Saturday when the car in which they were riding hit a railing on Highway 101 at the north end of the Richardson Bay Bridge.

The California Highway Patrol said the driver, Cordis Jones, 39, of San Francisco, swerved to avoid hitting a pickup truck which was going north in a south-bound lane.

Driver of the truck, Manuel Romero, 70, of 295 Cascade Drive, Mill Valley, will be required to take a new driving examination, the patrol said.

Hurt were Mrs. Doris Jones, 35, who complained of pain in her right leg, and Ruthie May Blakes, 50, who said she had pain in her chest, right elbow and right knee. Both told the patrol they would see their own doctors.

Seeing the truck heading for them, Jones and another driver swerved in opposite directions. Jones' car hit the outside railing, according to the patrol.

A thousand more individual campsites will be constructed in national parks during 1964.

Sequoia Man Hunt Ends In Failure

SEQUOIA NATIONAL PARK (AP) — Chief Ranger Pete Schuft said today that the organized air and ground search for Donald Neuman, missing San Jose State College history professor, has been called off.

Schuft said rangers on patrol in the park's back country will continue looking for Neuman as part of their routine duties.

But that's about all we can do," Schuft said. "We've about scraped the bottom of the barrel."

Neuman, an experienced outdoorsman, vanished June 25 when he left Lodgepole for an overnight hike to Lion Rock. The dawn to dusk search began June 27.

She was driving west on Panoramic Highway when the motorcycle hit an embankment at 2:50 p.m., according to the California Highway Patrol.

SCRANTON DUCKS EAGER SUPPORTER

Time Running Out For Scranton Delegate Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Time is closing in on Gov. William W. Scranton's late bid for the Republican presidential nomination.

With GOP leaders already gathering in San Francisco for the opening next Monday of the party's 1964 convention, the Pennsylvania governor has failed—so far—to take away from Sen. Barry Goldwater enough votes to preclude a first-ballot victory for the Arizona senator.

Two weeks ago Scranton expressed belief that many delegates who then favored Goldwater but were not pledged to him would start switching to the governor about the middle of last week.

No such exodus from the senator's ranks was evident. In fact, Goldwater gained delegate strength and the end of the week saw this first-ballot lineup in the Associated Press survey of 1,308 delegates:

Goldwater	710
Scranton	146
Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller	105
Henry Cabot Lodge	45
Sen. Margaret Chase Smith	15
Richard M. Nixon	2
Favorite sons	113
Uncommitted	186

Goldwater's total, substantially more than the 655 needed for the nomination, provided he hangs on to them, includes 118 committed by primary election laws, 257 instructed by state or district conventions, 62 personally pledged, and 273 favorable but not officially pledged.

Sources close to Scranton disclosed late last week that they were concentrating their efforts on some 340 delegates in 23 states, of whom about 180 were believed to be leaning to Goldwater. These sources said Scranton was only 75 or 80 votes away from stopping Goldwater.

Godlwater, on the other hand, is known to believe he has more than 700 delegates, but he is not yet claiming victory.

Not counted in the Associated Press survey of Goldwater delegates are votes which he could very easily pick up on the first ballot from the Ohio and Wisconsin delegations.

SHOWDOWN IS SEEN ON RIGHTS PLANK

Goldwater, Scranton Backers Maneuver For Battle Inside GOP Platform Group

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Goldwater and Scranton backers maneuvered today for a showdown battle inside the Republican platform committee over the GOP civil rights plank.

Supporters of underdog Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton are driving to have the Republican convention declare its belief in the constitutionality of the new rights legislation signed into law last week.

Backers of Sen. Barry Goldwater, who voted against the measure in the Senate on the ground that it was unconstitutional, said they would oppose any such attempt to "embarrass" their candidate for the party's presidential nomination.

Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.) scuttled any hopes of a compromise plank offered by Goldwater spokesmen to head off a row in the 100-member platform committee. Scott is Scranton's convention manager.

Rep. John J. Rhodes (R-Ariz.), spokesman for Goldwater on the committee, said the platform should only pledge the party and its candidate for president to support the law and enforce it. Beyond that, Rhodes said, there was no need to go much deeper into the civil rights controversy.

Scott, however, told a news conference last night that he and other moderate Republicans would demand that the platform "assert or reaffirm" that the civil right law is in accord with the constitution.

"If it does not, more will be heard of it. I expect," Scott said in a mildly worded hint that Scranton backers might push the issue to a fight on the convention floor.

Scott said Scranton has urged the committee to endorse the new law's validity in a letter to chairman Melvin R. Laird (R-Wis.).

Laird, however, has supported the position taken by the Goldwater group that the Supreme Court is the final arbiter of constitutionality.

"We can't establish this 100-member platform committee as the Supreme Court during this week in San Francisco," Laird said.

Committee sessions open tonight with a report by Clare Boothe Luce, former congresswoman and wife of magazine publisher Henry Luce, on the work of the Republican-oriented critical issues council. Mrs. Luce is a Goldwater backer.

The council has demanded more aggressive action to bring the downfall of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro and urged the United States abandon the effort to put a man on the Moon by 1970 as wasteful and risky.

Mrs. Luce and Robert E. Merriam, former White House aide, are the only speakers listed for the opening meeting. Laird was expected to name an executive committee to direct the actual drafting of the policy statement.

Scott, who is on the committee, said he and up to a dozen others on the group would meet tomorrow afternoon to see if they could coordinate their strategy on the platform. Hearings, which appearances by both major contenders, start tomorrow and run through Friday.

Scott said the Goldwater camp has expressed a desire to "go along" with the party's moderates on the policy document. Rhodes, questioned on this point, denied Scott's statement and said the Senator cared a great deal about the contents of the 1964 campaign document.

Scott and other Scranton backers appeared eager to take on Goldwater in a pre-convention fight over their clashing views on the civil right law.

They turned to the platform as a battleground in a last-ditch effort to sway delegates to their contender before the delegates start balloting next week.

Laird, attempting to promote party unity and minimize differences between the two men, said he could "very easily" foresee Scranton emerging as the vice presidential contender on the GOP ticket. However, Scott said the running mate's job is a topic on which Scranton has shown "no interest whatever."

Rank, File GOP Back Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A survey prompted by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower showed overwhelming support among the rank and file Republicans for the recently passed civil rights law, it was revealed today.

Only a small minority of those participating in the survey backed Sen. Barry Goldwater, front-runner for the GOP presidential nomination, in his opposition to sections of the law.

The survey also showed that the great bulk of Republicans involved was concerned over foreign policy and considered the struggle in Vietnam a top issue in the November campaign.

Robert E. Merriam, one-time White House aide to Eisenhower, will report to the Republican platform committee tonight on the results of the questionnaire, distributed under a "party-to-people" program suggested by the former president.

Merriam, coordinator for the program, said the breakdown on civil rights was "pretty much the same" as the GOP vote in Congress on the measure. In the Senate, 82 per cent of the Republicans voted for the bill. In the House, 78 per cent of the GOP membership supported the measure.

Approximately 400,000 quesitonaires were distributed by Republican-affiliated organizations under the survey. Replies have been received from some 40,000 --with more coming in daily.

The questionnaire merely asked rank and file voters to list what they considered the outstanding issues of the day, to say what the government should do about them and what the Republican Party policy should be on the questions. About 85 per cent of those who responded identified themselves as Republicans. The remainder considered themselves independents.

Merriam said the survey did not bear out the view of Henry Cabot Lodge, former ambassador to South Vietnam, that the war in the Southeast Asian country was not a bipartisan issue in the campaign.

"Regaráless of what Lodge says," said Merriam, "The rank and file were for a firmer foreign policy, with a heavy emphasis on Vietnam. Not a hard line foreign policy. But a return to the Teddy Roosevelt policy of speaking softly and carrying a big stick."

On civil rights, Merriam said the survey indicated some northern backlash. But he said the more interesting response was from the South. Many of the Southern replies, he said, indicated acceptance of the inevitability of an eventual breakdown of segregation but questioned the speed and the use of federal power to force desegregation.

Merriam, who said he has reported frequently to Eisenhower on the party-to-people program, said the former president hoped that the questionnaire would stir discussion and attract attention to the issues rather than candidates.

Although the corner of the car where the driver sits was smashed, she was unhurt, the highway patrol reported. (Independent-Journal photo)

Soldier Is Beaten; 3 Drive Off In Car

Sausalito police issued an all-points bulletin yesterday for three men who pulled a Fort Ord soldier from his rented car, beat him, and drove off in the car.

Leo. C. Willett, 22, a reserve soldier in training at Fort Ord, told police he left Zack's by the Bay at Bridgeway and Turney Street at about 11:30 p.m. Saturday, got into his car and fell asleep.

He was awakened at about 12:30 a.m. by a man shaking him. The man, Willett told officers, said, "Get out! It's my car."

Willett was pulled from the car, he said, whereupon the three men struck him on head and face with their fists.

The men got into the blue 1964 Chevrolet Impala and drove off.

Willett, who is from Great Falls, Mont., said he rented the car from Hertz Rent-A-Car in San Francisco. Willett was not hospitalized and was not personally robbed, police said.

The three men are wanted for strong-armed robbery, said Officer Ernest Brown.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—In an effort to cutt he bulging field for the Kentucky high school golf tournament, qualifying scores were set at 80 instead of 82 for individuals and 320 instead of 328 for teams. So, the 1964 field rose from 172 to 201 individuals and from 28 to 29 teams.

Marin, Cities Dividing $1.2 Million Auto Fees

Marin County and its cities divided $1,208,461.82 as final allocation from state automobile license fee revenues for fiscal year 1963-64, State Controller Alan Cranston said today.

This was the third and final apportionment for the fiscal year, period ending May 31. Total June apportionment for city and county treasuries was $34,911,-882.

Money is allocated on population basis, half the total going to city and half to county treasuries. The allocation amounted to $5.74 for each city resident and $4.77 for each county resident, said Cranston's office.

The county's net payment was $163,062.15, after subtracting an April advance payment of $488,952 from total of $652,014.15.

Marin Cities' gross payments totaled $556,447.67. Advance payments were $418,347, leaving a combined net of $138,100.

Separate city payments were: Belvedere, $12,520.96; Corte Madera, $39,161.32; Fairfax, $35,-664.87; Larkspur $39,294.52; Mill Valley, $58,608.77; Novato, $127,-340.88; Ross, $13,591.91; San Anselmo, $65,535.26; San Rafael, $132,061.55; and Sausalito, $32,-767.63.

Small businessman getting Wells Fargo welcome

The in-a-hurry executive who was just ahead of our small businessman deposited $3,186. The gal who's next will pick up a payroll nearly double that amount. Our point is that all three—executive, small boy, career gal—get the same warm welcome, the same willing service. You can call it many things—courtesy, interest, friendliness. We call it the Wells Fargo welcome. It's a Western way of doing business, and we've been part of the West for a long, long time.

Fire Chiefs Warn To Keep Eyes Open

Marin County fire chiefs today warned all ranch owners and subdividers with large holdings in the hills to be alert for tresspassers who might accidentally cause fires.

Fire Cchief Louis J. Bloom of the Marin County Fire Department and Fire Chief George Cavallero of the Novato Fire District joined with the other fire chiefs to issue the warning after a 30-acre blaze burned on Big Rock ridge Friday afternoon.

The fire started in the Marin County jurisdiction and spread onto the Novato district lands.

"This could have been started by either hot rod cars or motorcycles or scooters making a road climb," the chiefs said.

Cavallero said that all gates were locked on the Novato side, but hot rodders or motorcyclists could have come up from Lucas Valley and been gone before the fire was reported.

The chiefs asked all ranchers to keep all gates locked and people living near the entrances to fire roads to jot down the color and license number of any strange car they see using these roads during the balance of the fire season.

Ridge Grass Fire Lasts Two Hours

Mill Valley and Marin County firemen fought two hours Saturday afternoon to bring a brush and grass fire under control on Corte Madera ridge.

The fire, which was reported at 4:48 p.m. by a Summit Avenue resident, burned an area of about 400 by 50 feet, according to Leslie Armager, Mill Valley fire chief. Cause of the fire, which started below the home of Dr. J. Alfred Rider, 10 Charles-Dean Roard, was undetermined.

Each department sent four trucks and about 10 men.

TOKYO (AP)—The Soviet Union called today for the creation of a permanent U.N. peace force to secure world peace.

The proposal was made in a memorandum delivered to the Japanses Foreign Office.

It calls for contribution of forces from all nations, except the five nations — the United States, Britain, France, Nationalist China and the Soviet Union—holding permanent seats on the Security Council.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Insect Allergies Known To Pose Triple Threat To Many Sufferers

VAN DELLEN

Insect allergy is a triple threat to mankind. Some people are sensitive to bites and others to the venom injected during a sting. The third potential hazard is the inhalation of insect debris resulting from the death and disintegration of insects.

This form of air pollution, according to Dr. Joseph H. Shaffer of Detroit, ranks next to pollen, mold, and fungus spores as a cause of hay fever, asthma, and other allergy symptoms.

A MICROSCOPIC STUDY of atmospheric dust during certain seasons of the year reveals insect scales, hairs, wings, and other body fragments and emanations. Sensitivity to this material is followed by a variety of allergic manifestations of the eyes, nose, and bronchi. Some react only to the debris from butterflies, whereas others respond to the dust of caddis flies, moths, May flies, or other flying insects.

Dr. Shaffer tells of a report that appeared more than 20 years ago on residents along the shoreline of Lake Erie who suffered from respiratory tract symptoms from June to early August. The cause was traced to May flies and more specifically to the thin, friable pellicle discarded during the moulting season. Desensitizing injection of an extract of dried whole May flies solved the problem.

MORE SERIOUS ALLERGIC reactions appear in those who are sensitive to the sting of a bee, wasp, hornet, or ant. Many deaths have been recorded.

Desensitization is most helpful but anyone with this allergy ought to carry along ephedrine aerosol and Isuprel glossets for emergency treatment. Many physicians also recommend a first-aid kit containing all of the instruments and medicines needed to combat the ill effects of insect stings.

Bloodsucking insects such as deer flies, mosquitoes, bedbugs, and midges also create large red wheals that burn and itch. These are allergic reactions that occur when the insect injects saliva while probing for blood. Ointments containing an antihitamine or a corticosteroid will give prompt relief.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if a stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

LIP DISKS

M. B. writes: I have a short upper lip and, on smiling, I show a lot of teeth. Is there any way to stretch the skin between the nose and upper lip, without resorting to plastic surgery?

REPLY

Yes — the Ubangis have been doing this for centuries. Possibly, the skin of the upper lip may be stretched by pulling on it daily.

NEUROLOGICAL DISORDER

M. B. C. writes: What do you think I have? A few months ago I started slurring words and had occasional difficulty swallowing. Now I seem to have a slight paralysis around my mouth.

REPLY

You may have Bell's palsy (facial paralysis) or other type of nerve damage. See your physician.

NECK ARTHRITIS

Mrs. D. writes: Could cervical arthritis cause headaches, dizzy spells, and pain in the neck?

REPLY

Yes. Dizziness occurs when the head is turned or pressure is applied to the neck. Heat, massage, and traction will relieve not only arthritis but vertigo. For sleeping, place a small pillow under the neck and use a firm mattress.

HAIR AND CHOLESTEROL

C. B. writes: Could a high cholesterol level in the blood cause falling hair in a woman?

REPLY

Not as a rule, unless the elevated level is associated with a sluggish thyroid.

BUFFALO HUMP

Mrs. R. M. Writes: I have a fatty lump on the back of my neck which I understand is referred to as dowager's hump. Is exercise of any value in eradicating this condition?

REPLY

Exercise will improve posture and may make the hump less noticeable. But it would be difficult to eliminate.

Major Southland Blaze Conquered

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Firemen conquered a swiftly-moving brush blaze yesterday after battling it four days over foothills, canyons, mountains and grasslands.

It was Southern California's first major fire of 1964. It raced 20 miles, scorching 12,800 acres.

Three times it leaped across barriers clawed out by firemen with axes, shovels and bulldozers. At 10 a.m. it finally was controlled.

A rifleman's bullet clipped a power line at 1:15 p.m. Thursday afternoon in the hills 40 miles north of Los Angeles. The line fell, sending sparks into dry, brown brush—and the race was on.

Burning at times at better than a mile an hour, the fire blazed to the 4,500-foot ridge of the San Gabriel Mountains, swept down to scorch and leap-frog over a tiny mountain village, then burned on almost to the edge of the Mojave Desert.

No homes were lost and there were no serious injuries.

"It was one of the longest fires in California history," said a U.S. Forest service spokesman.

A 20-year-old San Francisco woman suffered face cuts which necessitated stitches at Marin General Hospital after she and a 21-year-old Mill Valley man were thrown from a motorcycle at Bridgeway Boulevard and Coloma Street in Sausalito at 1 a.m. yesterday.

Driver of the motorcycle was James S. Killarney of 276 Cardinal Street, who told the California Highway Patrol he attempted to turn from Bridgeway on to Coloma when the cycle went out of control.

His passenger was Ruth E. Scalnick. Killarney said he would see his own doctor for treatment of minor scrapes and bruises.

Supervisors Again Due Pay Proposal

The Marin County Board of Supervisors tomorrow will again try to reach a decision on a salary increase for county employees. The board has already approved the principle of a major change in the salary ordinance, but has not set specific pay scales for specific jobs.

The supervisors will also have another go at the question of the future shoreline for Richardson Bay. The board will receive the recommendation from the county planning commission on a proposed bulkhead line in the bay.

Also, the supervisors are expected to discuss the suggestion of a self-imposed moratorium on filling of San Francisco Bay while the entire area undergoes a planning study.

The suggestion comes from the Assn. of Bay Area Governments, with a request that the county pass an ordinance to stop filling the bay, and sign an agreement making ABAG administrator of the restrictions.

A hearing is set to consider zoning of the Bolinas and Stinson Beach areas, approved for major changes by the planning commission to bring into closer compliance with the master plan for the area.

The board will receive a request from the public works department to allow a start on construction on several minor road jobs approved for the preliminary budget but not for the final budget yet.

The Marin Rod and Gun Club has asked for a resolution opposing construction of the proposed San Luis drain in the San Joaquin Valley, until a study can be made of possible damaging effects to fish and wildlife in the Sacramento-San Joaquin delta and San Francisco Bay.

Beer Control Sought After Riot At Fair

PLEASANTON (AP)—Police Chief Walter J. McCloud says he'll urge tighter controls on beer sales as the result of a riot by hundreds of young men at the Alameda County Fair.

"I'm going to suggest some tighter controls and shorter hours on beer," he said. "Guys 21 buy beer, then haul it away and supply the juveniles who can't buy it."

McCloud said Saturday night's Fourth of July melee started when two officers tried to send home five or six young men who "had been drinking, were throwing firecrackers and were shouting and swearing."

A crowd gathered and fought police with beer bottles and firecrackers before nearly 100 officers quelled the riot with fire hoses, dogs and nightsticks.

Deputy Sheriff Frank Weiss was injured when a cherry bomb exploded in his patrol car. Another officer was struck on the helmet by a beer bottle.

Thirteen persons were arrested, nine of them under 18 years of age.

McCloud said the crowd took rioters away from officers as they tried to make arrests. "We arrested one boy, handcuffed him and put him in the car, and the crowd took him out the other side of the car, handcuffs and all," he said.

Officers from the California Highway Patrol and nearby Livermore, Newark and Fremont helped contain the riot.

McCloud said most of the crowd dispersed shortly before midnight.

Solomon, a former University of Oregon student, will begin active training July 21 at Alameda. Ryan, a graduate of San Jose State College, will report for training in Alameda Aug. 18.

DEATH WORD IS LATE AS GI DROWNS

HONOLULU (UPI)—A 23-year-old soldier, whom Army officials were trying to find to tell him that his mother had just died on the mainland, drowned while skindiving yesterday off Waianae Beach.

He was identified by Army spokesmen at Pfc. Joseph C. Howard of Philadelphia, Pa.

Howard was skindiving with friends at the Army beach when he apparently succumbed to over-exertion, the Army said.

Army officials here had just received word of his mother's death in Philadelphia and were trying to locate him and tell him the news.

Two Cars Burned In Tam Valley Fire

Two automobiles belonging to a Tamalpais Valley man were destroyed in a carport fire at 3 a.m. yesterday.

Senator Questions Reapportionment Rule

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The State Senate, through Sen. Ed J. Regan, chairman of its judiciary committee, has moved to get answers to three questions regarding upper house reapportionment of California in line with United States Supreme Court rulings which held state senates must be represented primarily on the basis of population, rather than area.

Regan, aided by Herman Selvin of Los Angeles, former chairman of the California Law Revision Commission, and Angus Morrison, legislative counsel, intervened in two pending suits to make the senate a co-defendant.

The Senate wants to know:

1. Have the recent U. S. Supreme Court decisions invalidated California's method of state senate apportionment?

2. To what extent is California already in compliance with the supreme court ruling that state legislatures in both houses must be based on population?

3. Should the 1964 general election in November be held up, as pending court cases request, until the state senate is reapportioned on a 'as nearly equal as possible' population basis?

The requests for intervention were filed in both state and federal courts.

Regan said if court permission is granted, the effect would be to give the senate an opportunity to present its views officially, offer vital evidence, and make possible faster and more direct action on the part of the senate when the cases are decided.

"California's great size and diversity," he said, "makes the problem of reapportionment unusually difficult in meeting constitutional requirements, a problem which will require thorough study.

"We must not shoot from the hip in a matter so far reaching."

He said he is not disguising his conviction that the U. S. Supreme Court erred in its ruling, which he described as new legislation rather than judicial review. But the state, he said, must study the matter carefully and then take steps to comply if pending legal actions make it necessary.

"Meanwhile," Regan said, "we have a duty to the people of California to see that the state senate is not broken up as a working institution until this matter is resolved. The state of California must not be left without an effective, functioning government while these cases are being decided.

"That is the principal reason we have sought to intervene and become defendents, so that we may protect the state as a whole while helping the courts arrive at a just decision."

Popping Paint Empties Homes Near Railroad

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Explosions rocked four burning cars of a derailed freight train Sunday and 14 families fled from their homes near the track.

But they returned in relief after firemen discovered that the detonations were popping cases of spray paint cans. The train carried no explosives.

A total of 18 cars in the middle of a 92-car train inbound from Salt Lake City derailed when one car broke a journal box in Montebello, two miles from the Los Angeles Freight Terminal, a Union Pacific spokesman said.

No one was hurt and there was no delay in service, he added. Passenger and freight trains were re-routed over Southern Pacific lines to the north.

U.S. Reported Preparing Puerto Rico Naval Base

LONDON (UPI) — The United States was reported today to be preparing a major base on its small Caribbean island of Vieques, off the east coast of Puerto Rico, which could if necessary substitute for the U. S. Naval Base at Guantanamo, Cuba.

Vieques, or Crab Island, is 21 miles long and 65 miles wide. It is administratively a part of Puerto Rico. Its eastern half has been leased by the U. S. Navy.

According to unconfirmed reports, the Navy is preparing to take over more acreage in preparation for building the base.

The site was understood to have been chosen for its advantageous strategic position.

A further strong consideration, according to the same reports, was the fact that Puerto Rico is an American commonwealth and establishing a base would be politically easier and safer there than on foreign territory.

According to indications available here, the United States has no intention of vacating Guantanamo.

But speculation among diplomatic observers suggested that in the event of further difficulties between the United States and Cuba, possession of an alternate or additional base would strengthen the U. S. bargaining position.

Artist-Inmate Scheduled To Leave Prison

For Carl Pramberg, Aug. 25 will be a big day.

Pramberg, whose watercolors and other art works have gained widespread attention at San Quentin Prison art shows, is scheduled to leave the prison that day, entering the outside world for the first time in 11 years.

Although he has won numerous prizes at the prison shows, he plans to pass up the next one, which will take place just before he leaves.

"I'm too short," he explains.

Pramberg leaves little doubt that his artistic efforts, which did not blossom until he was in prison, will play a big part in the new life he plans to build for himself.

This may not be apparent for the first year or so. There will be other, more pressing problems to take care of then.

He has been promised a job on a ranch an San Ramon, in Contra Costa County. He believes he can handle the job ("I've done it before"), but he won't press his luck by trying to worry about a new job and painting at the same time.

If Pramberg bears society a grudge for his 11 years of lost freedom, it does not show. Instead, he contends the confinement "has probably done me a lot of good.

"I have a better grip on things," he explains, "and I know what is important to me."

Calmly, the 37-year-old man in the denim shirt recalls the 26-year-old who went to prison after being convicted of murder.

"I used to run pretty wild. I never had much consideration for myself or my family. When I wasn't workin', I was runnin'."

There was a marriage once; it is over now. But what remains is a 15-year-old daughter, now in a foster home, whom he is determined to help.

"I can't let her down," he says. One of his prime goals is to get her out of the home and start being the father he could not be all these years.

Pramberg looks back to no sudden turning point which changed him from a resentful, troublesome inmate to a man who can see where it may have done him some good.

But gradually, he worked out some of his most violent feelings, and after more than two years of close custody, he earned the chance to go to an outside prison camp, fighting fires and doing other outdoor work.

He liked this, but in the meantime, he had begun to draw and paint. He began buying books on art, until he "had a locker full of them." And he reached the point where he asked to go back inside the prison, so he could concentrate on art.

They gave his a job supervising art therapy, in which inmates are encouraged to take out their hostilities on the canvass instead of themselves. Here, he learned that "there are ways to get it off your chest."

For awhile, he thought of finishing high school, maybe going on to college. But that idea is gone, for "there are too many things to do, and too little time to do them. The years get shorter all the time, and they go by fast."

In prison, he sold his art works for as much as $150 apiece, and he put enough of the money away to cushion things if all does not go well. But he also learned, in prison, that there are many things more important than money.

"I am just as comfortable in an old chair as a new one.

"I don't wanta make no big killing. I just want to eat and sleep and fulfill my obligations."

But when a year or two have passed, and he has begun to get used to life on the "outside," Pramberg will pick up the brush.

"I want to find out if it is just in here or if I have somethin' going," he says.

PRISON ARTIST—San Quentin prison inmate Carl Pramberg displays one of the water colors which have gained him renown at prison art shows, and which he hopes to make the basis for a better life after he is paroled next month. He plans to pass up the next show in order to begin preparing for a possible show in a year or so—after he once again gets used to life outside prison walls.

Business Is Bad At World's Fair

NEW YORK (AP) — "Wonder World" — the 3.5-million-dollar show at the World's Fair—closed Sunday because of poor business.

The coproducers of "Ice-Travaganza" said that unless business picks up, the ice show will put on its last performance Saturday.

Business at the Texas Pavilion's "To Broadway With Love" was described as "terrible" over the weekend. Sunday's show was the last Sunday performance. From now on it will be on a six day-a-week basis.

Fair exhibitors had hoped for daily crowds of 300,000 or more over the holiday weekend. The figures never got to 200,000.

Russians To Make Movie On Karl Marx

MOSCOW (AP)—After decades of making movies about Lenin and other heroes of communism, the Soviet Union is going to make a movie about the man who started it all—Karl Marx.

The labor union newspaper Trud says filming will begin this month on what it calls the first Soviet movie about Marx. It is based on a Soviet novel, "Theft of Fire," and will have music by Dmitri Shostakovich.

Marinite Marking 35 Years With Wells Fargo In San Francisco

A Marin resident will celebrate his 35th anniversary with one company this week. The man is William L. Martin of Kentfield, and the firm is Wells Fargo Bank, San Francisco, of which he is vice president in the real estate loan department.

Martin has been an officer since 1932, including 28 years in real estate loans. He was elected vice president last year.

A native Californian, Martin is married and has two children. He is a director of the Mortgage Bankers Assn. of Northern California and a member of the Society of Residential Appraisers and the San Francisco Real Estate Board.

LOUIS W. T. MAY, assistant vice president of Wells Fargo Bank in San Francisco and a Sausalito resident has been graduated from the Graduate School of Credit and Financial Management at Stanford University.

Also graduated were Charles L. Martin of Terra Linda, assistant to the general manager of Standard Oil Co. of Calif. and Robert H. Cooke of Mill Valley, assistant manager of First Western Bank and Trust Co., San Francisco.

The executive development course, conducted two weeks a year, for three years, is administered by the Credit Research Foundation for the National Assn. of Credit Management.

G. D. SCHLEMER of Mill Valley, purchasing agent of Pacific Coast operations, General Chemical Division in San Francisco, has been promoted to Allied Chemical Corp. headquarters in Morristown, N.J.

He has been with the firm 20 years, and a Mill Valley resident for 12 of them. His wife Ruth is a former Mill Valley Library trustee. They expect to move to New Jersey with their four children in August.

GEORGE R. VAIO of San Anselmo has joined the Sequoia Title Co., San Rafael as public relations director. He was formerly with Marin County Abstract and Title Co.

D. M. CHRISTENSEN'S 400 Apartments on Canal Street, San Rafael, which started out with 93 units to rent, has filled 67 of them. Of these, 44 were rented in the last three months. Since these were last week's figures, the chances are that they've increased by this printning. The indication is that people are still moving into apartments.

When completed in November, the Moon Valley development will have a recreation center, library, lounge, nine-hole putting green, heated swimming pool, barbecue and picnic area, outdoor dance pavilion and hobby facilities.

ANTONE PETKOVICH, owner of Tony's Barshop, has moved from the Montecito Shopping Center to 401 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

American Dollar Again Is Being Rated High

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The American dollar, for the first time in years, is depreciating less than any other leading currency.

Latest figures show it has edged out those old champs, the German mark and the Swiss franc, in the race against shrinkage of purchasing power.

Depreciation is measured by calculating the purchasing power of a nation's currency as revealed by the increases in cost-of-living or consumer-price indexes.

Last year the big shrinkage was in some Latin-American countries, notably Brazil, down 43 per cent; Chile, off 31 per cent; and Argentina, 20 per cent.

This year the inflation news has been coming mainly from Europe, where several nations are fighting the rising cost of living that is whittling away the market place value of their currencies.

What shrinkage can mean in international investment markets is pointed out by the First National City Bank of New York.

It explains the effects this way: "If a 2.5 per cent annual rate of shrinkage in the value of a currency were projected over the life of a 20-year bond denominated in that currency, the real value of the bond would be reduced by 40 per cent at maturity."

Europe is developing its capital markets to lure long-term funds to finance its economic growth. But the bank notes that "until a better record of price stability is regained, it will be difficult to build investor confidence in bonds denominated in European currencies."

One reason the American dollar is rating so high today as an international standard of value is the far slower rate at which it has lost its purchasing power. And that also helps explain why the brief but disturbing runs on the American dollar in past years, with an attendant drain of gold reserves, have been largely eliminated this year.

Over the last 10 years the worst annual rate of depreciation of its currency has been turned in by Bolivia, 30.5 per cent. Chile is second with 26.3 per cent a year.

Alvin Dark Calls Giants 'Pitiful And Disgraceful'

LITTLE LEAGUERS?—This is the double play between third and home that made the San Francisco Giants look like Little Leaguers on the basepaths yesterday against the Phils. At left, Orlando Cepeda (30) is run down and tagged by Phils catcher Clay Dalrymple (11). At right, Philadelphia pitcher Dennis Bennett (23) runs Jesus Alou (14) back to third where Richie Allen made the put out to complete the double play that cut off a rally in the seventh inning. (AP Wirephoto)

Manager Alvin Dark leaves no doubt that his San Francisco Giants must step up their his production to maintain a challenge for the National League pennant.

"Pitiful hitting, disgraceful big league hitting," the manager stormed after the Giants lost three straight to Philadelphia and reached the All-Star break trailing the Phils by 1½ games.

Over the first 78 games in the schedule of 162, the Giants as a squad were hitting .238 even though Willie Mays was second in the league at .339 and Orlando Cepeda was at .303.

In 29 innings against the Phillies, the Giants scored only four runs, losing 5-1, 5-2 in 11 frames, and 2-1.

"I'm not going to talk about the ball game at all," declared Dark referring to the Sunday affair before 38,641 fans at Candlestick Park, which saw the Giants hurt as much by themselves as by the Phillies.

In the seventh inning, Jim Hart had hit his 10th homer of the season to put the count at 2-1.

Orlando Cepeda swung at a third strike which was wild and reached first when the ball bounded toward the backstop. The Giants had another break when Jesus Alou singled to left and Cepeda raced into third when Wes Covington threw to second. It appeared a throw to third would have beaten the runner. Still no one was out.

Then things became weird. Philadelphia played back obviously playing for a twin killing and allowing the Giant a run which would have tied the score.

Pitcher Dennis Bennett got Del Crandall to ground to third baseman Richie Allen who caught Cepeda in a rundown. As the chase went on, Alou raced to third and finally Crandall headed to second.

Allen finally tagged Cepeda but his throw to second missed Crandall. Unexplainably, Alou took off from third and was an easy victim in another rundown. Jose Pagan's long fly, which would have driven in a run, then became only the third out.

"I just made a mistake," adknow why. When I saw the catcher throw the ball to second, I just went. Then I was off base and I couldn't get back. I don't know why I ran. I want to find out why so I don't do it again."

Philadelphia Manager Gene Mauch termed the play "not one you could imagine," adding:

"We got our big break when Orlando alertly went to third on that single. It turned out to be the thing that saved us. If the runners had been on first and second, the Giants probably would have bunted.

"As is was, we were willing to concede one run . . ."

The series was the first a Phillies club has swept from the Giants since they moved to San Francisco. The triumph went to Bennett (9-5) and the loss to Juan Marichal (11-4). Tony Taylor singled in one Phillie run in the fourth and Ruben Amaro knocked in another in the seventh.

After a two-day All-Star game break, the Giants go to Chicago for a double header on Wednesday. Bob Hendley (8-4 and Ron Herbel (6-4) were Dark's pitching choices.

Giants Should Be Twins—They're Too Dumb To Be Just One Ball Club

CONNOLLY

The Giants may or may not win the 1964 pennant but they rate first prize as the dumbest outfit to hit the major league pike in a long time. In fact they ought to be twins—they're too dumb to be just one club.

In losing the third straight game to the Phils yesterday the powerful, but dumb, Giants fell one and a half games behind the pace setting Phils. The Golden Opportunity fell out the window in the seventh inning of a nip and tuck pitching duel between souhtpaw Dennis Bennett of the Phils and Juan Marichal of the Giants, going after his 12th victory of the season.

It is hard to conceive how awfully stupid a ball club supposed to be bossed by a smart cookie like Alvin Dark can get. But the brainy Giants illustrated it thoroughly to the complete satisfaction and surprise of a wildly disgruntled 30,000 fans, destroying their only chance of victory and establishing themselves as the dummiest base running club in the National League. Their bonehead base running in yesterday's game is described elsewhere on these pages. I get sick just thinking about it without putting it in print.

MAYBE IT'S kind of silly to get excited or rave over the loss of a ball game but why does it always seem to happen to the Giants?

Situations like yesterday are elementary in big league ball. The fact that the powerful, but dumb Giant club can't realize it means only one thing—they lack smart direction.

If the Giants were to only lose a ball game or a series, it wouldn't mean too much. But in addition to those items they lost the respect of an irate citizenry. It isn't a "civic disgrace" but it "ain't far away" from it.

To get any place in the second half of the pennant fight, Manager Alvin Dark must exercise a much firmer grip. He can't be everywhere and he can't think for everybody, but it seems to us he should be able to help stop some of the things that occur.

THE SILVER lining that appeared brightly in the cloudy skies of the Phil series was the relief work of Billy O'Dell. If he is to be of any help to the Giants in the second half, then O'Dell should be given a chance to work oftener. The Giants really need lefthand pitching and they need it badly. Not the type of southpaw pitching supplied by Billy Pierce or Ken MacKenzie. But lefthand pitching that means something. We haven't got it and why conceal the fact.

Two other important items need consideration. Hal Lanier, rookie second baseman, has to hit harder, and oftener to become a fixture. He may, but he needs help.

Jim Hart and Jesus Alou both are pretty well set, but neither is a mortal cinch to be enough to propel the club to a championship.

THE IMPORTANCE of the Phil series strikingly proves what has always been said of the Giants—as Willie Mays goes, so goes the Giants. Willie went sour last week and so did the Giants.

When Willie hits the Giants win; when he doesn't the Giants

Pitching Edge To National All-Stars

By MIKE RATHET

NEW YORK (AP)—The National League leads the American League 2-0 in rested pitchers going into tomorrow's All-Star Game.

Of the 15 hand-picked pitchers for the All-Star classic, 13 saw action during the weekend, leaving the National League with a distinct advantage in its bid to even the over-all series between the leagues at 17 victories each.

STARTING HURLERS

Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers will start on the mound for the National League All-Stars tomorrow and will oppose Dean Chance of the Los Angeles Angels

Walt Alston of the Los Angeles Dodgers, manager of the National League team, had Don Drysdale of the Dodgers and Philadelphia's Chris Short sufficiently rested.

But Al Lopez of the Chicago White Sox, the American League skipper, had a cupboard like Mother Hubbard's.

It was suggested that Lopez line his pitchers up and call for volunteers to take one step forward. The starting assignment was to go to the last man stepping backward.

Some 40,000 tickets have been sold for the 35th All-Star Game, to be held for the first time at the new, 55,000-seat Shea Stadium. The game scheduled to start at 10 a.m., PDT, will be televised nationally.

Two American League stars already have been declared out of the game, and there is a strong possibility that quite a few of the outstanding pitchers in the majors will spend the day taking in the sun in the bullpen.

TV COVERAGE

Tomorrow's All-Star baseball game will be televised over NBC (channel 4), starting at 9:45 a.m., PDT.

Reserve outfielder Al Kaline of Detroit was ruled out when the Tigers notified the American League that he had suffered a severely bruised left ankle in Saturday's game. Rocky Colavito of Kansas City will replace him. Earlier, Boston shortstop Eddie Bressoud replaced Baltimore's Luis Aparicio, who is

FLOYD EASY WINNER; WANTS ANOTHER SHOT AT TITLE

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Floyd Patterson, the former world heavyweight champion, wants another crack at the title "very, very much" but most of all he wants to fight Sonny Liston again.

He took a giant step toward these goals by decisively outpointing Eddie Machen in their 12-round bout here last night before 40,000 at the Raasunda outdoor stadium.

Liston is the moody giant who lifted the heavyweight title from Patterson with a first round knockout in Chicago in 1962 and then repeated with another first round knockout in their return title go at Las Vegas last summer. Cassius Clay then added to Patterson's chagrin by winning the title from Liston at Miami Beach last February.

The ego of the 29-year-old former champ from New York appeared considerably bolstered by his cool and skillful performance against 32-year-old Machen of Redding, Calif., a fighter similarly haunted by past failures and psychological troubles.

Patterson showed surprisingly little of the ring rust he displayed in his first comeback fight here last winter against champion Sante Amonti.

Except for the seventh round, which Machen won with a stinging right to the jaw, Patterson dominated the fight with his familiar peekaboo guard and lightning fast series in kangaroo rushes. Machen was down in the 10th and 11th from slips for no counts. Blood stains showed on his white trunks and he nursed a closed left eye at the end.

Machen confused Patterson at times by keeping his head low at close quarters, but only his defensive skill—and maybe Floyd's lack of a takeout punch—kept him on his feet for the distance.

SCORING: 59-49

Teddy Waltham, the British referee and sole arbiter, raised Patterson's hand as soon as the final gong sounded. He gave Patterson nine rounds, Machen one and called two even, the same as the Associated Press scorecard. In points, Waltham scored it 59-49.

Machen landed several low blows after the bell ending the 11th round and Waltham disclosed that he momentarily considered disqualifying him, but let him off when Floyd shrugged it off. Machen said he did not hear the bell.

"I was stunned a few times, but never seriously shaken," Patterson said in the dressing room. "In the fourth or fifth round I knew I would win. Eddie is a good fight-

Maybe what your wife needs is a car that's all trunk

Like the Opel Kadett Station Wagon. Its trunk is so big, there's a front seat in it. Flip up that giant back door and you've uncovered 50.27 cubic feet of load space. Just great for loading and unloading grocery sacks, shrubs, monster dogs and tiny children. What if you don't want so much trunk? Simple. Fold up the fold-down back seat. The 46 horsepower engine is another thing of wonder. It has the rare virtue of simplicity. No complicated engineering tricks that so often breed repair bills. Also, the chassis doesn't require lubrication. Seat belts are standard equipment. So is the nifty luggage rack on top. The stick shift (four forward speeds) is both easy and fun to work. There is probably a Buick-Opel dealer just around your corner. He has plenty of cars, parts, service and desire. And he has something else nice. A low price.

DeRosa Hurls Builders To 4th Straight

Bob DeRosa hurled 7⅔ innings of perfect baseball Saturday before being nicked for a hit as he tossed and his Billings-Hutchison teammates slugged to a 11-0 victory over the San Anselmo Merchants.

It was the nightcap of a doubleheader at Albert Park in San Rafael and the victory kept the league-leading Builders on top of the Marin County Semi-Pro pack with a 4-0 record.

Don Lowpensky, San Anselmo leftfielder, hit a two-strike pitch for a single with two outs in the eighth inning to spoil DeRosa's bid for a perfect game. He allowed one other single in that inning for the only hits for San Anselmo. He struck out 10 and didn't allow a walk.

Mill Valley Rips Fairfax

With a 13-hit onslaught, the Mill Valley Merchants thumped DeMaestri's Fairfax Garage 12-2 in the opening game of a Fourth of July doubleheader.

Keith Fraser picked up his second Marin League victory for the Merchants, allowing only five hits and striking out 12 Fairfax batters.

Stan Woodward got a bases loaded single and Frank Ubhaus had two hits and three runs batted in to lead the Mill Valley batting parade. John Odetto had a double and two singles for three of the five Fairfax hits.

Novato Star Blanks Sox

Gary Fritz pitched a four-hit shutout yesterday to lead the Novak Builders to their first victory in the Marin County Semi-Pro Baseball League, 7-0 over the Tiburon Sox on the Novato High School diamond.

Doing the heavy hitting for Novak were Oscar Trevino with three singles in three at bats and John Dolinsek with a single that drove in two runs. Fritz, a right-hander, struck out nine and was never in trouble.

Tiburon's starter John Walker worked 5⅓ innings and was charged with the loss. He was relieved by Skip Rush who allowed three of the seven Novak runs.

Box scores of the semi-pro league games will appear in tomorrow's Independent-Journal.

NATIONAL LEAGUE ROUNDUP

No. 12 For Sandy Koufax

While the Giants were losing their third straight to the Phillies yesterday, the Los Angeles Dodgers moved into a fifth place tie with St. Louis as Sandy Koufax won his eighth straight and 12th of the season, 5-0 over the New York Mets.

In other N.L. games St. Louis topped Cincinnati 3-1, Milwaukee whacked Chicago 7-1 and Pittsburgh smacked Houston, 7-1.

Koufax, who has allowed only six runs in 69 innings during the streak, got batting support from Willie Davis who drove in three runs with a homer and a double.

Seventh innings singles by Bob Skinner and Tim McCarver broke a 1-1 tie and gave the Cardinals their victory.

Roger Craig, who allowed 10 hits, went the distance for his fifth victory against four losses.

Joey Jay, 4-5, pitched a six-hitter but lost.

Wade Blasingame won his first major league game, hurling an eight-hitter against the Cubs. Mike de la Hoz hammered his first N.L. homer and Joe Torre clubbed a pair of doubles as the Braves routed All-Star pitcher Dick Ellsworth.

Jerry Lynch clouted his 16th career pinch homer to start the Pirates' late surge and Manny Mota smashed a three-run shot to end it. In between Pittsburgh tagged Dick Farreli and Hal Woodeshick for all their runs.

Farrell, trying for the fifth time to win his 11th game, had a four-hitter for seven innings before Lynch's two-run shot put the Pirates in front in the eighth. Pittsburgh scored five more in the ninth.

Phils Skipper Sees Rough Road Ahead

Gene Mauch warns his Philadelphia Phillies that to win the National League pennant they must play as hard after the All-Star game as they've done up to now.

Sweeping a three-game series from the San Francisco Giants, the Phils grabbed a 1½ game advantage over the Californians and proved they'll be rough in the clutch.

"The fact remains," said Mauch, "that whatever we've done, we've got to do again.

"The second half will be a tough scramble. You've got to be at .600 when the season is over to win. You can't play .600 in this league unless you play like dogs every day."

After beating the Giants 2-1 to keep the lead, Mauch termed his club a "hard nosed bunch of ball players."

They reached this All-Star break with a 47-28 record and .627 percentage. The second-place Giants are 47-31 and .603.

Mauch termed the sweep "something the club has been looking forward to since the Giants did the same to us June 5-7 at Philadelphia."

The manager added he was only afraid the Phillies might be looking forward so much that they'd let down in the games leading up to the Giants series. Actually in eight before arriving in San Francisco, the Phils broke even, winning four and losing four.

Then came the sweep and from 1½ games out, the Phillies went 1½ games ahead. Left-hander Dennis Bennett won the finale, although needing relief help from Jack Baldschun in the eighth.

lose. It is pathetic how pathetic the club looks when Willie is on the fritz.

And as far as Willie McCovey is concerned, the big slugger is living on borrowed time. He either has to begin hitting in the second half or he gets the well known boot. So far he is a complete failure, even though sometimes a threat.

Maybe a trip away from home will re-establish the team. They've been hanging around here too long and wearing out their welcome. Let's hope they come back in a couple weeks feeling fresh and ready to go places. But lookout for the doormat clubs. They can and usually do crucify the Giants.

Max Hunter Winner Of 'Fourth' Tourney

Max Hunter outdrove Dr. James Bennett on the 19th hole yesterday after the two men tied in regulation 18 holes of the Mill Valley Golf Club Fourth of July Flag Tournament yesterday.

Patterson Easy Winner Over Machen

er, but just not fortunate enough."

The reaction from ringsiders as to Patterson's chances of regaining the heavy title for the third time was mixed:

Ingo Johansson, who knocked out Patterson for the title then lost it back to Floyd on a knockout, said Patterson would have "a better chance against Clay than Liston."

Peter Wilson, of the London Daily Mirror, said "Patterson an overwhelming winner, but I would not concede him the slightest chance of getting back to the top." Desmond Hackett of the London Daily Express agreed Patterson won impressively, but his "reflexes were dull."

In any event it was a big payday for both fighters. Promoter Eddie Ahlquist said the gross gate was over $300,000 and that Patterson stood to get $100,000 and Machen $50,000.

Machen, who weighed 199, enjoyed himself at a party in a night club after the fight. Patterson, 193, put in a brief appearance but went home to bed before midnight.

NICKLAUS SETS SIGHTS ON BRITISH OPEN NEXT

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Jack Nicklaus flew over the Atlantic today to play in the British Open this week with the $24,000 first place prize in the $125,000 Whitemarsh Open in his pocket.

Nicklaus' final round 67, best of the day, shot him past defending champion Arnold Palmer who was the leader on the course for a time yesterday. Juan "Chi-Chi" Rodriguez, who tied for the lead opening day and led for the second and third days, folded in the final round over the 6,807-yard, par 72 Whitemarsh Country Club layout.

Rodriguez, Dorado Beach, P.R., led Dave Marr, New Rochelle, N.Y., by one stroke after each of the first three rounds. The jolly Puerto Rican had 66-68-69-76—279, nine under, along with Marr for a fourth-place tie. Each won $7,042.

Player, with a final round of 69, took second money of $16,000 and was followed by Palmer at 278, 10 under par, worth $10,042. Palmer won last year with a 281 when the tournament was played in October.

THIRD OF YEAR

The win was the burly Ohioan's third of the year—Tony Lema with four leads the touring pros in number of wins. The 24-year-old Nicklaus now has won 11 tournaments in two and one-half years as a professional. Earlier this year he won the Tournament of Champions and the Phoenix Open.

Nicklaus said in the locker room that his playing mate, Gary Player, "should have won" because of the way he played in the final round. Player laughingly agreed but pointed out he had missed six six-foot puts on the way to his 277 total.

Champagne Tony Lema, who started the final round two strokes behind Rodriguez' 13-under par, shot at 72 to finish in a tie for fifth with Tommy Shaw, Portland, Ore., Billy Casper, Corona, Calif., and Canadian George Knudson.

U. S. open champ. Ken Venturi finished with 286.

nursing a pulled groin muscle.

Five of Lopez' eight pitchers worked yesterday—Whitey Ford of the New York Yankees, Chicago's Juan Pizarro, Dean Chance of the Los Angeles Angels, Boston's Dick Radatz and Cleveland's Jack Kralick. Pascual, Gary Peters of the White Sox and Kansas City's John Wyatt patched Saturday.

Drysdale last pitched Friday and Short Thursday. Jim Bunning, the Phillies' perfect game pitcher who had been expected to start for the National League, worked 10 tough innings Saturday.

The remainder of Alston's staff pitched yesterday—Sandy Koufax of the Dodgers, San Francisco's Juan Marichal, Dick Ellsworth of the Chicago Cubs and Houston's Dick Farrell.

The American League line-up includes Harmon Killebrew, Bob Allison and Tony Oliva of the Twins and Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees. The National League muscle men will be led by Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants and Billy Williams of the Chicago Cubs.

Killebrew leads the majors with 30 homers. Mays is the NL leader with 23. Allison has hit 21, Williams 19, Oliva 18 and Mantle 17. Oliva, the only rookie in either starting line-up, is second behind Allison for the American League batting lead. Allison has a .336 average, Oliva .335.

NATIONAL STARTERS

Orlondo Cepeda of San Francisco will be at first for the Nationals, Ron Hunt of the New York Mets at second, Ken Boyer of St. Louis at third, Dick Groat of St. Louis at short, Joe Torre of Milwaukee catching and Mays, Williams and Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh in the outfield.

Williams and Oliva are the only full-time left-handed hitters in the starting line-ups. Mantle is a switch hitter.

The National League, which won 5-3 at Cleveland last year, is a slight favorite. The National League has won 12 of the last 18 games. The American took 12 of the first 16. There has been one tie.

U.S. Olympic Track 'n' Field Outlook Held Encouraging

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — "I'd say we are coming along nicely, we must be careful not to reach a peak too quickly," Coach Bob Giegengack said today, proudly reviewing the nucleus of his U. S. Olympic track and field team.

"The performances over the weekend were very encouraging. We must wait until after the final trials and also see what the Europeans are doing before we can accurately assess our chances at Tokyo.

"Off hand, I'd say we have reason to believe they are very good.'

Broad jumper Ralph Boston and hurdler Hayes Jones were the leading stars in the first of two Olympic tryouts held Friday and Saturday at Randall's Island. The final tests are scheduled Sept. 12-13 in Los Angeles.

Boston, the defending Olympic champion, qualified for the team by broad jumping 27 feet 5½ inches, farther than any man has ever leaped, although the wind prevented consideration for a record. Jones swept over the 110-meter high hurdles in the excellent time of 13.4 seconds, 1/10th better than the Olympic mark.

Five other American athletes qualified with performances surpassing the existing Olympic mark.

They were Hal Connolly in the hammer throw, 225-4; Dallas Long in the shot put, 64-9½; Trenton Jackson in the 100-meters, 10-1; John Pennel in the pole vault, 16-6, and Al Oerter in the discus, 201-11.

John Thomas' 7-1 equalled the Olympic high jump mark and established him as a threat to Russia's world record holder, Valery Brumel.

"Right now I'd say we are not strong in only three events—the 400, javelin and triple jump," Giegengack said. "But we can't even count these out. I've seen cases where there has been a complete turnabout in two or three months.

"I would say we are definite medal threats in everything from the 5,000-meters down and in all other field events."

The Yale coach is particularly encouraged by the chances in the 1,500 and the 5,000-meter runs, specialities normally conceded to Europeans or Australians.

"Of the 10 world class 1,500 runners, we have eight of them," Giegengack said, "and our prospects in the 5,000, which we've never won, look brightest in all our history."

Oregon's Dyrol Burleson won the 1,500-meter berth by outrunning skinny Tom O'Hara in a tactical race in 3:45.4. However, the United States has 11 sub-four minute milers. The chief 5,000-meter hope is Bob Schul, who qualified in 14:10.8.

The first six finishers in each event at Randall's Island will compete in the Los Angeles trials, although the winners have earned an automatic Olympic berth.

YACHTING ROUNDUP

Ross Skipper Has Bit Of Poor Luck

Panacea, a 36-foot sloop, won the 85-mile Boreas Ocean Yacht race from San Francisco to Moss Landing Saturday, an event which saw some bad luck disqualify Henry Grandin of Ross and his 32-foot sloop Amorita.

Grandin looked like a cinch handicap winner, but he misjudged the finish line in the darkness and crossed the terminal inboard of the official mark. Amorita lost all chances of refinishing when her power was turned on.

The Panacrea is owned jointly by doctors Merv Shenson, Charles Keyes and G. H. Bond. Her corrected time was 11 hours, 56 minutes and 52 second. That time beat the gross clocking of scratch boat Santana, owned by Wally Nickell of Sacramento, by only one minute and 13 seconds.

Results:

Panacea, 11:56:52; Santana, 11:-58:05; Theme Song, 12:23:51; Scotch Mist, Koolan, Quirida, Soapy Guy II, Paramour, Reveille, Rampant, Jenny Lynn, Cavu, Lone Eagle, Kestrel, Saro Jane, Baroness.

Walker Winner Of Folkboat Regatta

Lou Walker of the St. Francis Yacht Club sailed his 25-foot sloop Weft to a win over 24 rivals in the San Francisco Chronicle's fourth annual July Fourth Folkboat Invitational Race Saturday.

Walker's victory was on the heels of a brilliant win from Jake Wosser of Belvedere aboard Rutsan in the International 33-foot Sloop Class preliminary. Wosser led the 10-boat field from start to finish.

Weft's win was 27 seconds over Debonair, piloted by Kruuse Caroe of the Sausalito Y.C.

O'Rion Still 6th In Tahiti Race

O'Rion, the yacht owned and piloted by J. C. Tinkler of San Rafael, was still running sixth in in the seven-boat field nearing Tahiti in the marathon race that started in Los Angeles.

The Ticonderoga, a 72-foot ketch, appeared today heading toward a new record in elasped time in the race, with arrival in Tahiti expected tomorrow.

Saturday evening the Ticonderoga was reported 610 miles from the finish line. The sixth place O'Rion was 1,465 miles from the finish.

Should Ticonderoga, owned by Bob Johnson, reach Tahiti tomorrow, it would break the 1961 record of Morning Star by almost a full day.

It seems to me . . .

by Lou Concilio

Ah, Youth! Ah, Memories!

It would be a certain sign of stovepipe vision to dismiss the mounting teenage population as a mysterious band of invaders from the Never-Never Land. Admittedly, there exists a handicap of a language barrier between them and us old folk, but they still are our kind of people. Harken to your own youth, ye doubters! Remember those campus capers? Or, would you rather skip it, and hide behind that facade of solid, middle age conservatism you've practiced so hard to perfect?

It seems our tolerance and a good portion of our sense of humor tend to disappear along with hair and hard muscle as we chalk up a decade or two. The antics we so carefully planned and so gleefully executed during our own youthful heydays now irritate us to speechless rage and cardiac-inducing frustration. The more indulgent among us shake our heads sorrowfully, and cluck in pity for the parents of these bands of incorrigibles. Imagine! They "dance" a thing called the "swim"! Without water, yet!

And, the one or two or three percent of today's young'uns go wrong with real law-breaking mischief, and the generalizers go to town bemoaning the ways of the "lost generation". If these cliche artists would do a little soul-searching, they might recall their own generation was presumed lost on a number of occasions, and searching parties were called off for lack of clues.

No, sir. I believe everything is relative. Including perspectives. Maybe I've been especially lucky, with my own daughter, whose only apparent fault is an inclination toward a pig-headed streak—which trait is no doubt a gift from her old man. And our contacts with the youngsters, from toddlers to the oh-so-young-and-married-and-parents, at Ames Ford, have been most pleasant. For every mischief-bent kid who's purloined a gearshift knob from one of our proudly displayed Fords, we've had literally hundreds so genuinely polite and enthused over our wares, they've even kindled a spark of fire in our most jaded salesmen.

Doug Cowan and I have preached the very practical doctrine of catering to the sometimes overpowering interest of the youngsters who come into our showroom. Practical for a very obvious reason: It is not difficult to perceive the tremendous amount of influence these kids have on the ultimate choice of the family automobile. And merely driving near the San Rafael High School in mid-afternoon at exodus-time will convince the most die-hard doubter that here is a real market for plus automobile sales. My goodness! Remember when only the most affluent among us sported bikes to school? Now, you'll find an occasional do-it-yourself puddle-jumper among hundreds of new and very late models.

I have personally talked to many teen-agers who walked into our showroom, and became a little embarrassed to find them so grateful for getting courteous attention. It seems too many other dealers and salesmen had either ignored them completely, or worse, had openly dosplayed annoyance over their unbridled curiosity and interest in the features of the cars on the floor. Ames Ford has had many of these teen-agers come back with parents firmly in tow to buy that family car from us.

The Ford Motor Company is irrevocably dedicated to promoting the youth market vigorously with many youthfully styled models and exciting performance potential. Doug Cowan and I are likewise committing Ames Ford to this program, along with our over-all policy of promoting ourselves to all of Marin County. After all, when statistics indicate by 1965, one-half of the population will be under 25 years old, we'd be stupid to ignore the young people. And we're not stupid. Just kooky.

TIBURON TO TAKE UP MANAGER POST

Councilmen To Go Over Model Ordinance Point By Point To Determine Power, Duty

By ELLEN BRY

Tiburon city councilmen will take their biggest step toward stelf government tonight when they begin outlining the duties of the city manager they will hire.

Council members hope to have a manager on the job within two or three months; but first they must decide what powers he will have.

At the meeting at 8 p.m. today at Del Mar School, the council is expected to begin a paragraph-by-paragraph dissectiton of a model ordinance which was drawn up as a take-off point by Interim City Administrator Warren Schmid.

Schmid was hired by the council with the written understanding that he would not be in the running for the permanent job of city manager. He is executive director of the Institute for Local Self Government, a research organization in Berkeley.

The first step may be for councilmen to decide how recruiting is to be done. Schmid, in a memorandum to the council, suggests that he screen applicants, with the aid of the council, to bring the number down to the six to nine best suited on the basis of education and experience.

He suggests, with councilmen possibly standing by, that a panel of city managers from other cities sit as an "oral examination board" to evaluate applicants.

The council then would interview the front runners and pick their man

Councilmen first must set a salary or salary range which they would offer the applicant, with $900 to $1,000 a month being the range councilmen will be talking about for the city of about 4,700 persons.

Salary may not be the prime point of consideration for applicants. Tiburon is a "lovely environment in which to live and work and raise a family," Schmid slays in his report, and the newly formed city will offer a chance for advancement as it grows.

On the negative side, the post as yet includes no retirement or group medical plan, cost of living is relatively high, and the work load of organizing the city may be heavier than normal in the first years.

Councilmen seemingly have settled on the title "manager" as opposed to "administrator." The title means little; the ordinance defining it will carry the real meaning.

Passenger Hurt In Car Collision

Beth Minto, 53, of San Francisco was treated at Marin General Hospital for cuts on both knees after a car in which she was riding struck a tree on Highway 1 just west of Northern Avenue in Tamalpais Valley at 6:15 p.m. Saturday.

The driver, George A. Connelly, 56, of San Francisco received a bruise of the right knee but did not seek treatment.

Connelly offered no reason why he lost control of the car, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Mill Valley Teen-Agers Plan 4 Summer Dances

The Mill Valley Youth Council will hold four summer dances at the Municipal Golf Clubhouse, the first on Friday. Other dances, all from 8 to 11:45 p.m., are scheduled for July 24, Aug. 7 and Aug. 21.

Dances, according to Les Mize, council co-director, are open to all teen-agers in the Mill Valley School District enrollment area. Money raised is used for youth activities.

Bolinas Meet Put Off

Board of directors of the Bolinas Public Utility District will meet at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the Waterhouse Building on Brighton Avenue, Bolinas. Last Friday's meeting was postponed one week because of the three-day Fourth of July weekend, according to Sherman R. Smith, chairman.

Educators Gain Work Training

Two Marin County educators will participate in a special work experience program sponsored by San Francisco State College this summer.

Charles Herndon of Ross, College of Marin counselor, will work in the business office of the San Francisco division of the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. to gain experience which may be related to school and classroom activities.

Mrs. Virginia L. Cachran of 22 Billou Street, San Rafael, a Terra Linda High School business teacher, will work with the California State Automobile Assn. in San Francisco.

Bolinas Board Fetes Former Secretary

Mrs. Dorothy Paul who recently resigned as secretary of the Bolinas Beach Public Utility District was honered at a party Friday by the district's board of directors.

Succeeding Mrs. Paul will be Mrs. Jacque Gianola of Bolinas who was welcomed by the board.

Students Learning About U.S. Government Working First Hand

Stephen P. Marks, 21, and Lola C. Behr, 20, may feel like anyone else about high taxes, but they are getting to know much more than most college students about how the United States Government is spending those taxes.

Lola, daughter of County Supervisor and Mrs. Peter H. Behr of 212 Del Casa Drive, Mill Valley, and Steve, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion H. Marks of 20 Porto Bello Drive, San Rafael, are working with 48 other students from Stanford University this summer in Washington, D.C.

Steve is a 1961 graduate of San Rafael High School who received his diploma from Stanford last month and will enroll in the fall at the University of Leyden in Holland. He is assisting Richard Andrews, minority counsel for the Senate interior and insular affairs committee.

Of his duties concerning a drainage project for the San Luis complex now before the committee, he wrote his father:

"I couldn't hope for a better job. I'm doing very exciting and seemingly very important work. I am working on a memo that will be used to advise Sen. (Thomas H.) Kuchel with respect to a proposed amendment that would prevent the drain from ending at Antioch Bridge as the 1956 Act contemplates, but rather that it end at least as far west as Port Chicago.

"If this proviso is not included in the appropriation, the San Joaquin River will be polluted to the detriment of the agricultural, industrial, domestic and recreational uses of the people of Contra Costa County and eventually the entire Bay Area.

"The second project I will be working on has to do with a dispute over the California-Arizona border arising out of the changes in the Colorado River. Do state boundaries which are measured by a river change with the meandering river? I hope to have a legally sufficient answer soon."

Lola, a senior at Stanford who graduated from Katharine Branson School in 1961, is working with the Navy's Special Projects Division in a job of whose nature even her mother is not quite certain. The Defense Department scoured the nation and picked her out of 350 college students for the post, which deals generally with setting up new and non-routine projects.

Lola is earning $385 per month on her job. Steve is not getting paid for his.

Fabrics Get Treatment—What Ever Happened To Plain Silk?

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Get your program, you can't tell the fabrics without your program!

So many new fabrics and treatments of them and the old have come along that a woman now needs a glossary to guide her to her fall and winter clothes shopping.

The New York Couture Group, whose members and auxiliaries this week are showing the whole range of fall and winter fashions to out-of-town reporters, helpfully has compiled a fabric glossary.

It includes most of the ones the woman shopper will be hearing about for the first time, plus a refresher course on some of the fabric classics back on the scene full scale for 1964.

Some are trade names; others are fabrics made by any number of textile firms.

Showroom commentaries are full of mentions of Abraham velvet and Alaskine. The first is a crush resistant, deep pile velvet, mostly black in depth. The second is Staron's dull-surfaced blend of 66 per cent wool and 34 per cent silk.

ON DOWN THE fabric alphabet:

—Aleouchine. Staron's nubby silk twill with a wool backing to give it body.

—Broadtail Velvet. A luxury fabric with the velvet cut to look like the lambskin, or broadtail, for which it is named.

—Brocatelle. Originally a heavy cross-ribbed fabric for upholstery and draperies. It is similar to brocade but has a higher relief to the surface and usually comes in only one color.

—Boucle Surface Tweed. A tweed with a surface resembling hand crochet.

—Cavalry Twill. A slightly ribbed fabric showing for fall and winter again for both suits and coats.

—Chantilly. A lace originally made in Chantilly, France. Its delicate scroll or floral designs abound in cocktail and evening clothes.

—Chevron Mattelasse. A mattelasse (see below) with a zigzag pattern looking like a herringbone.

—Cire. A fabric with lustrous surface created by application of wax heat and pressure. Looks like quilting without seams. The back is laminated to foam and the fabric is used for coats and suits. (Pronounced Seer-A.)

—CLOQUE. Textured fabrics with bubbly patterns. The newest cloques are wool. (Pronounced Clo-kay.)

—Crepe Knit. A new 100 per cent silk crepe that looks like silk jersey but has much more body. Despite its name, it's woven.

—Double-faced Fabrics. Fabrics woven to have no wrong side and often with contrasting sides for use in reversible garments.

—Duvetyn. A fabric of 95 per cent wool, 5 per cent nylon, with a suede-like surface.

—Eyelash Brocade. A brocade woven with clusters of thread, lash-like in their arrangement.

—Eyelash Lace. A new lace outlined in horsehair for additional body and an unusual pattern.

—Eyelash Velvets. Cut velvets with wide scatterings of lash-like dots.

—Herringbone. A patterned wool classic for men's wear now seen in women's apparel with the pattern scaled to a much larger size.

—LUREX. A non-tarnishing metallic yarn created to be woven by itself or mixed with other fibers.

—Matelasse. Fabrics with floral or geometric surface design, shown frequently in silk.

—Melton. A stout, smooth wool with short nap, showing for fall and winter in both coats and suits.

—Metallic Tweed. Combinations of lurex and wool in tweedy weaves.

—Needlepoint Wool. A flat wool with delicate diamond embroidery-like pattern. Petitpoint wool is the same with a smaller pattern.

—Riopelle. Imported ribbed jersey of 100 per cent wool.

—ROPE TWEEDS. Tweeds of outsized herringbones, plaids and checks in which very wide threads are used. They are light in weight but look heavy.

—Stippled Wool. Wool given shadowy little "bumps" in the wool.

—Strie. Fabrics with a wavy effect or irregular lines. (Pronounced Stree-a)

SHOWING UP in the new trend of combination fabrics is this theater suit by Teal Traina, who selected "Alaskine" for the jacket and skirt—a dull surfaced blend of 66 per cent wool and 34 per cent silk. For the blouse a white silk "Brocatelle" is used—originally a heavy cross rib fabric for upholstery and draperies, but that today is similar to brocade but has a higher relief to the surface and usually comes in only one color. WINTER WONDERLAND??

These two head to toe winter creations were put on display by American designers for the cold months ahead. At left a Caleche hood drapes over the front and back to become part of a black dress. At right lace boots and mantilla in the Spanish manner are worn over a satin dress in a black ensemble for winter wear. (AP Wirephoto)

That Suitless Suit Man Says He's Tired

NEW YORK (UPI) — The man who designed the topless swim suit and set off an international controversy wishes people would forget the whole thing for a while.

"I'M TIRED," said Rudi Gernreich. "I'm just tired of all the hoopla and a little bored."

But the Los Angeles designer stands firmly convinced the naked look at the top is the coming feminine fashion even as he's both berated and praised for his daring.

"The top of a woman's body is a beautiful part of the form," said Gernreich in an interview. "It is not offensive."

"This is a trend. I feel it," he continued. "It is now just getting more potent. Our attitudes are changing . . . the Victorian is on the way out."

Gernreich said he was overwhelmed by the reaction to the swim suit which is nothing more than a pair of snug-fitting knit trunks topped by a couple of three-quarter inch straps up the cleavage, across the shoulders and down the back.

"I NEVER DREAMED it would go beyond the fashion business into sociology," he said. Gernreich has been in New York with his fall and winter clothes collection to show store buyers.

The collection included a long slim evening dress with string shoulder straps and a bosom so scooped out center front and under the arms that it was almost as daring as the bathing suit. Another model was a revealing chiffon shirt to be worn with black satin pants and no underpinnings.

Gernreich said women have written asking him where they can buy the swim suits. Other women have written to castigate him with comments like "what are you doing to us?" or "how immoral can you get?"

GERNREICH LOOKS the least likely person to set off a furor, although he's always been an avant garde designer. He's a quiet, soft-spoken and unassuming man of 42 years who never had any formal design training.

He was born in Vienna in 1922 and moved to Los Angeles with his mother when he was 16. While going to public school "I also had to help earn a living," he said.

He joined a wholesale fabrics firm during World War II "when it was easy to get a job and you could sell anything."

The fabrics he was selling were for interior decorating, but when he began to drape them on models for advertisements, buyers spotted a new talent.

WORLD FIRST LADIES

Nina Petrovna Emerges From Red Shadow

Fifth in a series of seven articles on world women wed to power — first ladies of other countries who are seldom seen or read about by Americans or their own people.

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Newsfeatures

On a sunny September day in 1959 lumpy, round-faced woman with wispy gray hair knotted in back apprehensively stepped off a giant TU114 plane in Washington, D. C. and thus emerged from the Stalin-imposed obscurity of Russian feminine life.

Despite unkind remarks over her ungirdled figure and matronly wardrobe, Nina Petrovna Khrushchev soon garnered the affection of many Americans because of her very pleasant simplicity, shyness and obvious delight in little children.

NIKITA AND HIS NINA . . . Soviet Premier and Mrs. Nikita Khrushchev smile at well-wishers. Public appearances are new to her.

SO SUCCESSFUL WAS her grandmotherly image that the spouse of the Soviet Premier was never again to be just a simple housewife.

Painfully diffident Nina found herself breaking champagne bottles over steamships, greeting foreign delegations, attending fashion shows, even slicking up her own appearance.

IN 1962 PROPAGANDISTS sought to use this acceptable image to even greater advantage by having her beam a peace broadcast to the U. S. and this spoiled it. The party line cant sounded too much like her husband's speeches to please Americans.

During her visit here however, Mrs. Khrushchev did set straight facts about her life which had become clouded or distorted by a Russian policy of news blackout about the family of public officials.

Among the rumors bruited about was that Mrs. Khrushchev had soap opera type troubles with "the other woman," a blonde, high level Communist party member who often acted as hostess at the Kremlin.

ANOTHER WAS THAT Nikita's first wife had been banished to Siberia where she still lives comfortably to make room for Nina. All the Khrushchev children were said to be from this first marriage.

While the 64-year-old helpmeet of the Soviet chief did not refer to this gossip she described her meeting with Nikita as a pupil-teacher relationship. A son of a coal miner and a sheep herder in the Ukraine, Nikita was studying mining engineering at Stalino School where Nina was teaching political economy to adults, Nikita among them.

Nikita's first wife died during a famine, Nina told U. S. newsmen, leaving him with two children, a son, now deceased, and a daughter, Julia. Nina and Nikita were married in 1924 and from that union came Rada, Sergei and Yelena.

ACCORDING TO RUSSIAN Embassy officials, she fought in the Civil War and has long been a fervent Communist. Some experts on Soviet affairs say that, indeed Nikita was an apt pupil because of his teacher's skill, and that perhaps without her he might today be a mining engineer.

Reticent publicly, in the two-story,, cream-colored family home in the Lenin hills, or in their summer estate along the Black Sea, Mrs. K. dares to differ with Mr. K. and he listens.

AS A CONSEQUENCE, she receives hundreds of foreign letters begging for her intervention in matters regarding relatives in Russia and maintaining peace between East and West.

Once at a Communist Party banquet, Nikita raised his vodka glass in a maudlin toast to Nina giving his doughty woman credit for his success.

Her reaction was to insist that he cut out the vodka. And he did.

IT'S TRAVEL TIME

She Helps Keep Family Peace—

By MARG ZIMMERMAN

MARY G. EDDY

Mrs. Mary G. Eddy, a staff member of the Family Service Agency of Marin, is concerned with elementary school children who show signs of disturbed habit patterns that could develop into serious social problems.

Children of this age are usually helped through parent counseling. Keeping peace in the family, if the child is to be helped, is an integral part of Mrs. Eddy's job.

Coincidental, perhaps, is the fact that Mrs. Eddy was born and reared in Pipesmoke, a small town in Minnesota that is literally steeped in peace. It was here that the Indians came, tribes of them through the years, to make their "peace pipes" from a red rock found only at Pipesmoke.

After her graduation from Pipesmoke High School, Mrs. Eddy worked for a year in Seattle, then enrolled at the University of Washington, majoring in sociology. She received her B.A. there and her master's degree in psychiatric social work from Smith College. While at Smith, she did field work with the Bureau of Child Guidance for the New York City Board of Education. After that she came to San Francisco to work for the Child Guidance Clinic of Children's Hospital.

Marriage and the birth of her daughter, Kathleen, kept Mrs. Eddy away from her social-welfare career for several years, but during that time she continued working with youngsters as a nursery school teacher, a member of the P-TA and a leader of her daughter's Bluebird group.

Mrs. Eddy has been with the Family Service Agency of Marin since February. A member of the United Crusade, the agency was able to hire her through a special grant from the Compton Foundation.

She is the only member of the agency to deal entirely with the problem of the elementary school-age child, with all of her cases referred by the school principal and the school district phycho-analyst.

"There's enough work here for five or six social workers," she said, explaining why she had to refuse some cases last month. Summer, she hopes, will allow her to catch up.

Last week Mrs. Eddy and another member of the Family Service Agency, Mrs. Alan Bruce, attended the 1964 Seminar of Social Workers at Pacific Grove. Dozens of agencies, many branches of the California government and social agencies from as far away as India were represented. From Marin also were Gretchen Gray, Elaine Gutstadt and Jo Anne Salberg representing Sunny Hills.

Mrs. Eddy and her daughter live in Mill Valley.

Joyce Pharr Recites Vows In Novato Church Ceremony

Bethel Baptist Church in Novato was the setting for the wedding of Joyce N. Pharr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paskell S. Pharr, and Eugene M. Loewen, all of Novato, on Saturday.

The Rev. Clark Wyly performed the ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white floor length gown of heavy brocade with a short train.

Susan Benning of San Rafael was the honor attendant, wearing a dress of red brocade. Bridesmaids were the bride's sister, Betty Pharr and the bridegroom's sister, Sherry Loewen. They wore matching gowns of red satin.

The bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Loewen, was served as best man by Mitch Lollar of Novato. Ushers were Bill and Sam Jensen, also of Novato.

Following a reception at the home of the bride's parents, the newlyweds left on a wedding trip to Eureka and Willow Creek.

The bride was graduated from San Fafael High School and attended College of Marin. She is employed at George S. Nolte Consulting Engineers in San Rafael. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Pharr of Clear Lake Highlands.

Eugene was graduated from Novato High School and attended the College of Marin. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wyatts of Willow Creek. The bridegroom is employed at Tresch Electric in Novato.

Velvet Is A Must

A "must" for every woman's winter wardrobe: something velvet. Velvet is featured in practically every new collection of the top designers. Most frequently it's in the shape of a little theater suit with collarless, short-cropped jacket. Black's the favorite color, although forest green and ruby red make a strong showing, too. Almost always, the little velvet suit has a pastel satin blouse. Jackets are lined to match the blouse.

Mrs. Johnson Scores On Many Fronts As Nation's First Lady

By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson has scored on many fronts as First Lady — not the least in her rating with the reporters covering her activities.

She is quotable and accessible. She accepts women reporters around her part of the whole picture of public life. She first-names most of them, having known them for years, and takes them in her stride as friends.

LADY BIRD JOHNSON

THE WOMEN WHO cover her were surprised at first to find themselves traveling on the same plane with the First Lady on various trips — without a buffer. Not only does Mrs. Johnson walk down the aisle to greet each reporter personally, she also has been reading their stories.

On the way back from such trips the plane usually becomes the setting for an informal news conference with Mrs. Johnson summing up her experiences. She feels she can help spotlight some of the needs she has observed, especially on poverty trips.

SHE IS OPEN AND frank with them, but at the same time is sharply aware of what can be said for print.

The late Mrs. Roosevelt gave newswomen their biggest breaks when she started holding conferences in the Monroe Room of the White House. She expressed herself on controversial subjects and made headlines.

Mrs. Harry S. Truman was extremely gracious with women reporters but painfully shy. In the swirl around her, she kept an outward serenity and let her husband do all the talking.

MRS. DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER smiled, waved and tossed a warm gay word to reporters. She was friendly, but no sooner would she begin chatting with newswomen than her social secretary Mary Jane McCaffery would begin to run interference.

She held one news conference when she moved into the White House and handled it like a pro. But that was afterward, women covering her found that the biggest job was to outmaneuver Mary Jane.

MRS. JOHN F. KENNEDY put a wide berth between herself and all reporters when she was First Lady. During the presidential campaign, she held weekly press teas and charmed newswomen with her intelligent comments. She was witty and articulate.

But after she moved into the White House her remarks to the press were limited to monosyllables or "It's lovely."

She tried to separate her public and private life. Instead, she found that the public interest in her was total. While she hoped to direct public attention to the latest antiques acquired for the White House, she found people were more interested in her personal life, in her children and their pony "Macaroni."

Early in the game she decided that you just couldn't please reporters. The few interviews she gave were in the form of written questions.

MRS. JOHNSON HAS a lot going for her with Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter a former newspaper woman, as her press secretary. Liz brings with her a rich background and a great deal of experience and knows the problems of the press.

Perhaps it could all be summed up by saying that Mrs. Johnson wanted to be a newspaper woman herself. She has a journalism degree from the University of Texas and talks occasionally about front-page bylines she once had in her college newspaper.

FORMER PRESIDENT Harry S. Truman has a lot of nice things to say about Lady Bird Johnson in the foreword of a forthcoming book on the First Lady. He pays her high tribute when he says she "knows what the business of government is all about."

Writing the foreword for "The President's Wife," by Washington Post reporter Marie Smith, Truman says, "brains, ability, a loyal following mean nothing" to a President "unless — by his side — there is an intelligent and understanding wife."

Truman recalls meeting Mrs. Johnson 20 years ago when her husband was a young congressman from Texas.

LAST MARCH Truman accompanied her to Greece on her first mission abroad as First Lady, representing the President at the funeral of King Paul.

"One has only to watch her in action," Truman wrote, "to see why he would not hesitate to give her this — and nine other — assignments. She is a real human being, she is a selfless human being."

WHILE HE WAS in the White House, Truman was most protective of his wife, Bess, and daughter, Margaret, and they had a "togetherness" unique among first families, throughout those years he always referred to Mrs. Truman as "the boss" and she knew there was no point fighting it.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON displayed his sense of humor several months ago when he went to the New York World's Fair and met the Trumans. He gave Mrs. Truman a kiss on the cheek. Truman turned to him and said, "I wouldn't let every man do that."

"And I," Johnson quipped, "wouldn't let every man take my wife to Greece."

GOP CONGRESS WIVES WORKING ON QUILT FOR THE WHITE HOUSE

Republican women are already making plans in hopes a first lady of their own party moves into the White House.

The wives of GOP Congressmen have been working for months on a red, white and blue quilt, with grey elephant patches from each with an embroidered signature of a GOP Congressman, which would be presented to the future first lady.

Mrs. Jack Westland, wife of the Republican Congressman from Oregon, is in charge of the quilt which is being shipped to San Francisco to be put on display at one of the convention hotels.

Mrs. Westland said the blanket is nine feet, six inches long. "The night I was in the White House I took a look to see if it would fit the Lincoln bed," she said with a smile.

The signatures are arranged alphabetically on the quilt.

She says the Republicans are confident of victory and have made no plans about what to do with the quilt if the first lady starting next January is not a Republican wife.

Elizabethan Feast Before Shakespeare

On July 15 at 6 p.m. an Elizabethan "Feast to Good Will," sponsored by the Marin Shakespeare Festival in cooperation with the Gourmet Sections of the American Assn. of University Women, will be served at the Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross.

The Marin Shakespeare Festival will open that evening with "The Merry Wives of Windsor" and thought it appropriate to honor the quadricentennial of Shakespeare's birth with a banquet beforehand.

Chairman of the dinner is Mrs. Robert Christensen, with Mrs. Earl Pennington and Mrs. Richard McLaughlin co-chairmen. Mrs. Russell Smith is honorary chairman of the event.

Reservations chairman is Mrs. William Morrisey III, of Ross.

New Cassini Dress

Approval Of Sweater

Sportsmen have signified their approval of the half-sleeve wool sweaters introduced for summer. On the strength of the first season's success of the men's short-sleevers, sweater makers are planning more of the same for fall. With their free-arm ease and airy, lightweight warmth, the little sweaters are naturals for golfing, boating, tennis and other outdoor activities.

Be sneaky

Don't tell a soul, but there's a wonderful new place in Honolulu called the Kahala Hilton. A gorgeous estate, right on the beach. Bordered on three sides by the golf course and tennis courts of the Waialae Country Club. It's only 15 minutes from the bustle and bazazz of Waikiki, but hardly anybody's found out about it yet. So please keep it that way . . . just steal away from the crowd and be prepared for pampering. Fabulous food, sumptuous suites, superlative service. A wide sweep of coral-free beach. An enormous swimming pool. A lovely lagoon to sip cocktails by. And nobody to bother you.

The cost? Surprisingly low. From $12 a day per person for a double room that's twice as big as normal.

So don't breathe a word. Save it for when you get back and tell your friends what they've missed. They'll hate you.

QUIET AND RESERVED

Peggy Goldwater Calls Idea Of White House 'Frightening'

By MARGUERITE DAVIS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If Peggy Goldwater moves into the White House next January, it won't be because she chose that address.

But it would be all right as far as she is concerned because Barry Goldwater wanted it that way and what her husband wants, she wants.

MRS. GOLDWATER has said the thought of becoming first lady is frightening. She frankly was not happy when Goldwater, confirming an open secret, announced earlier this year that he would seek the Republican presidential nomination.

Once the decision was made, however, she was in the race to the end. A quiet, reserved woman, who until recently shared none of her husband's interest in politics, Peggy Goldwater has not made any formal speeches in his behalf. More, she says she never will.

BUT SHE HAS accompanied the Arizona Senator on many of his campaign trips, beginning with New Hampshire in last winter's sub-zero weather. Most recently, she kept pace with the frenetic California primary.

But even so, despite her willingness to talk about her family and home, Peggy Goldwater refused to be drawn into politics.

"Of course if you ask her which candidate she's for, that's a different matter," said an aide at Goldwater headquarters here.

THE FOUR GOLDWATER children apparently feel no such inhibition about discussing politics. They have campaigned around the country for their father. Barry Jr., a Los Angeles stockbroker; Michael, a Phoenix banker, and Mrs. Joanne Goldwater Ross of Torrence, all have been active in their father's behalf. And daughter Peggy managed a few weekend trips away from her classes at Mount Vernon Seminary and Junior College to help push her father's candidacy before her marriage last week.

FRIENDS POINT to the Goldwaters as proof that opposite personalities can make for a happy marriage.

Both inherited wealth. His came from the Arizona department stores founded by his father. She is the daughter of a founder of Borg-Warner, a leading automotive parts manufacturer. But that is about as far as the similarity goes.

Peggy Goldwater was born in Muncie, Ind., July 8, 1909. Her parents, Ray and Anna Prescott Johnson, had a home at Phoenix. It was there that Peggy, soon after her graduation from the Mount Vernon Seminary and Junior College at Washington met the boy next door.

After a two-year courtship they were married in Grace Episcopal Church at Muncie in 1934. Friends say he has been courting her ever since.

He is forever giving her gifts, ranging from the tradtional red roses and mink to a crate of apples delivered to her pullman drawing room. Two Christmases ago when their son, Mike, was traveling in Europe, the Senator arranged for the delivery of a huge box to their Phoenix home. Mrs. Goldwater was persuaded to open it immediately and wept with happiness when Mike bobbed out.

Presents from Mrs. Goldwater to her husband are likely to reflect long planning. Like the needlepoint vest she worked on for two years, decorating it with symbols of his hobbies — flying, ham radio, photography, and the Indians of his native Arizona.

MRS. GOLDWATER'S choice of vacations lies along the lines of a Caribbean cruise, or a trip to the Orient. Her husband prefers fishing trips in Southern California, or exploring remote sections of Indian country with sleeping bags their most luxurious accommodations.

So they agreed to alternate and each now gamely abides by the other's choice of the annual outing.

PEGGY GOLDWATER for years was afraid of planes and refused to fly. But she conquered this fright after her husband became an enthusiastic pilot of his own plane, and now says "I will go anywhere with Barry at the controls."

Her serenity apparently has been unruffled through 30 years of marriage and the rearing of four children. An admiring friend characterized her as "the balance wheel."

Mrs. Goldwater is a blue-eyed brunette with a preference for jangling charm bracelets and feminine gowns, for a modern-style home uncluttered with antiques but filled with the gadgets her husband loves, and above all for being where the Senator is.

State Referrals Indicate Little Job Discriminatoin

Now that the Civil Rights Act is a law of the land, it might be well to check on whether there is rampant discrimination against employment of members of the "minority groups."

Reviewing its activities in the first quarter of 1964, the State Department of Employment reports California employers just as willing to accept qualified Negroes and Mexican-Americans as others sent to them by the Department.

One out of four white professional workers so referred was hired. The ratio for Negroes was the same. One out of every 3.5 Mexican-Americans was hired.

The ratio of hiring for clerical and sales work was about one out of three being employed. This ratio was the same for all three racial groups.

In referrals for skilled occupations, one of every 2.7 white workers was hired. The ratio for Mexican-Americans was about the same, and for Negroes, one out of every three was hired; mainly due to lack of qualified Negroes for these particular jobs.

These jobs all came through applicants to the State Department of Employment being referred to employers. The application blanks do not specify the job-seekers' color or creed. Whether or not an applicant is hired by an employer is entirely the employer's own decision.

Statistics as to firms hiring from direct applications are, of course, unavailable. But the state employment follow-ups on applicants to the Department indicate the average employer tends to select the worker he feels best qualified —regardless of race.

Heat, Low Humidity—Fire Hazard

With the arrival of summer weather and the drying out of the grass and woods, the fire season is upon us again.

Smokers and campers and picnickers must once more be reminded that carelessness is the prime factor in causing forest fires; that this terrible, senseless destruction of beauty is largely manmade.

We urge everyone to be extra-careful from now until the winter rains. The burden rests on each of us to keep California green and gold.

ACROSS THE ATLANTIC IN TINY BOAT

Sailing a small boat 8,300 miles from South Africa to Florida in four months was the achievement of a young married couple and a 25-year-old man who had never been to sea before.

The hazardous journey was made in a 30 by 18 foot sailboat that had no auxiliary motor. A transistor radio provided the only way of getting time signals.

While crossing the South Atlantic, the hardy trio made stops at St. Helena and the Ascension Islands. Then began a 3,200-mile stretch during which they sighted neither ship nor land. Moreover they had to contend with food and water shortages, as well as a whale and stormy seas.

On your pilgrimage through life you, too, will encounter loneliness and difficulties.

Keep your final destination ever in mind and set your course according to divine rule. Then you will meet hardships cheerfully. By seeking God's help, you will reach the eternal goal, which is the greatest prize that man can attain.

"I press on towards the goal, to the prize of God's heavenly call." (Philippians 3:14)

Inspire me, O Holy Spirit, to keep my sights on the joys of heaven.

Brown Tax Proposal Would Make Stores Keep Books Free For State

BY HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO, — (CNS) — What may turn up to be a major item of concern at the 1965 session of the state legislature turned up at a hearing of the Assembly Interim Committee on revenue and taxation, held recently in San Diego.

THIS INVOLVES the annual assessment date for business inventories. At the present time, assessment is made once a year by counties, in March, on the inventory business establishments have in stock at that time.

In AB 1244, by Assemblyman Milton Marks, (R-San Francisco) there is a new proposal for "averaging" the inventories. This is presented on the theory the state can get more taxes out of the retailing industry.

Traditionally, retailers have kept inventories low during March, to avoid high tax costs.

But averaging, according to Eugene B. Wilson, resident counsel of the California Retailers Association, won't help in the production of more revenue for the state.

THE ASSOCIATION, he told the committee is opposed to averaging in computation of assessed valuations, and is particularly opposed to Marks' measure.

"Such a provision," he told the committee, "would impose a greater burden on industry in the retailing field, both in terms of additional taxes, and in terms of administrative costs. Mandatory averaging is subject to serious objections, as there is no assurance assessed value is more or less on a five-day than on a one-day inventory."

He pointed out a true average could be reached only through a 365-day summary, which he said is impossible under current methods of handling inventories.

IF ADDITIONAL inventory dates are added to the March computation, the state of Nevada will benefit from increased warehousing operations for the state of California retailing industry, Wilson said.

"Some of the large multiple store retailers have indicated to me," he told the committee, "if the averaging concept were ever adopted they would in all probability institute permanent distribution centers in Nevada.

"Under the present system, holding freight cars in Nevada as the lien date approaches is one way of reducing the impact of the tax, to some extent.

"However, it would be quite burdensome to go through this process four or five times a year, and permanent warehouses in Nevada would become a reasonable alternative."

INCREASING USE of warehouse facilities in Nevada, a so-called "free port" state", is being noted at the present time. The trend toward out-of-state warehousing is detrimental to the California economy, Wilson pointed out, and laws that encourage it merely result in less employment for Californians.

Retailers now perform many services for government without charge. They are required to keep books for their employees for the federal government for income taxes and social security. Now the state through Governor Edmund G. Brown, is to seek the same free service for state taxes. More bookkeeping for no remuneration, it is held would be a further imposition on the retailing business of the state.

'Postal Patron' Not Happy With Letter

Editor, Independent Journal

The other day a letter came that really gave me a warm feeling. It wasn't addressed to me personally, and it didn't have my address; but I got it in my mailbox anyway—with no stamp—in my role of "Postal Patron — Local, 1st Congressional District, California."

I imagine that other postal patrons—local (or, postal patron—locals) got the same communication, and maybe the same warm feeling.

In spite of the great civil rights debate in Congress, in spite of the bitter struggle over medical care for the aged, in spite of horns being locked back in Washington over shaping a meaningful foreign policy, in spite of the administration effort to achieve a workable solution to problems of poverty—in spite of all the serious and complex issues that engage our attention and affect our destinies, it sure is nice to know that our friendly First District Congressman is thinking about our lawns and gardens.

For indeed the letter I received as Postal Patron—Local was from Congressman Don Clausen, who wants to offer me a choice of real interesting stuff that will help my lawns and garden. Like "L184 Elm Bark Beetles" and "G35 Ways to Cook Rabbit" and "M948 Fallout shelter for six people." To say nothing of "G75 The European earwig—how to control it around the home."

In his sales pitch, old Don tells me that "My wife Ollie can vouch for the usefulness of several. . . ." Unfortunately I don't know Ollie, and she of course does not know Postal Patron—Local. So what was useful to her may not be useful to me.

I would find it useful to have a Congressional representative from the 1st district who is less concerned in spending my money to dump a bunch of unwanted surplus pamphlets—and more concerned in following the principles of his late predecessor, Clem Miller. . . .

RICHARD LIEBES

Another Postal Patron Comments

Editor, Independent Journal:

I received . . . a form letter from Congressman Don H. Clausen, a free offering of Government pamphlets on such subjects as "Chiggers—how to fight them," "The old house borer," etc. All in all, a choice of 135 plus pamphlets printed and mailed at Government expense.

This letter bearing the free postage frank of Don H. Clausen, M. C. was addressed "Postal Patron — Local, 1st Congressional District." The assumption I arrive at is that every household in the first district was also so honored.

Mr. Clausen would have difficulty in convincing this writer that he was in any way concerned with fiscal responsibility.

In my reply to Mr. Clausen I stated: "I am horrified at the thought that every Congressman in these United States might be sending a similar form letter to every household in the United States.

"I would be most interested, Sir, in hearing what you estimate the cost was for your mailing in your district, and at a later date what the response was. I also would be much interested in the cost of mailing booklets to those who did respond.

"Perhaps, too, someone could estimate what the total cost would be if all Congressmen follow your example. This might help explain some of the postal deficit, and also help an uninformed citizen know where at least a portion of the huge funds appropriated for the Agriculture Department and the Government Printing offices is spent."

(Regarding the two foregoing letters: Check in Washington shows these bulletins are prepared by the Department of Agriculture for free distribution pursuant to law. Practically all Congressmen avail themselves of these as a service to their constituents. EDITOR)

Asks More Highway Patrols For Marin

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In reading and hearing for the last six days about the terrible accident on the San Rafael overpass in which six persons lost their lives, I have talked with many people in regard to this. I'm sure that I speak for many people in Marin County.

I believe that our State Highway Patrol should have more men posted in various parts of the county; more so than they do now.

I feel if there had been a patrolman posted a half mile or so down the highway, that this accident could possibly been avoided.

The man going past the speed limit could have been stopped and given a ticket. This I think would have slowed him down and this family and himself would be alive today.

Most accidents are caused by speeding and I feel that not only in Marin County but in other counties as well, there should be more patrolmen on the highways.

I realize that it is too late for this family, but it is never too late to find new ways for saving the lives of others.

Schultz' Private Enterprise Quote

Editor, Independent-Journal

Surely Chairman Niels Schultz, Jr., of the County Planning Commission was quoted out of context in Tuesday's story on the Richardson Bay issue, i. e., "Either we have a private enterprise system or we don't."

It is hard to imagine one as experienced and sophisticated as Mr. Schultz suggesting, as does quotation, that the acquisition of privately owned tidelands by the county for park and park-related purposes is in any way a threat to our economic system.

The private use of land is not an absolute right; it is conventionally limited for the common good. Such limitations are the very substance of the work of the Planning Commission, and uncommonly difficult they often prove to be.

The real issue is how much of Richardson Bay and its shoreline should be preserved for the common good, and concomitantly, in what ways and to what extent can money be raised for this purpose. Let's not becloud this issue with red herrings.

A WHOLESALE jeweler downtown is still seething from the visit of one of his biggest customers—who has unpaid bills dating back to 1962. "I'm coming to you as a pal," the customer told him with a warm pat on the back. "I'm letting you known now I'm flat as a pancake and am going into bankruptcy. The other creditors won't know it for ninety days!"

IF "PARONOMASIA" strikes you as a formidable word, relax: all it means is an old-fashioned pun. Like Harry Malone's respected oldie of the missionary who was seized by cannibals, tied to a post, and jabbed with spears every evening so the local gentry could sample his blood. Finally he protested to the chief, "I'm getting mighty tired of being the one who's always stuck for the drinks."

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Twin-Headed Monster Faces GOP Convention: Platform Vs. Barry

WASHINGTON: The Republican National Convention is right up against a painful, embarrassing, vote-repelling dilemma.

It is inescapable, assuming Sen. Barry Goldwater is to be nominee.

THE FACT IS that events within the Republican ranks have now reached the "either-or" stage and most politicians can't abide "either-or" — and with good reason.

Here is the "either-or" dilemma which looms so menacingly ahead at San Francisco:

The 1964 Republican platform either (1) will have to repudiate the voting record of the Republican Party or (2) will have to repudiate the voting record of its presidential nominee.

The way things now stand, there is just no way of putting the two in harness.

The reason is that Sen. Goldwater has voted against nearly everything which the other Republican members of Congress have voted for during the past four years.

The reason is that most Republicans in Congress have supported the 25 main policy commitments of the 1960 platform while Goldwater has opposed them.

IT IS, of course, entirely possible for the Republican Convention to be consistent with itself. It can nominate Sen. Goldwater and give him a completely consistent Goldwater platform, opposing the Civil Rights Bill, opposing the tax cut, opposing the test ban, threatening to withdraw from the United Nations, threatening to break relations with Russia — and so forth.

It could do that but, if it did, the convention wouldn't be consistent with the policies and voting record of the Republican Party during the past 12 years.

Rep. Melvin Laird of Wisconsin, Chairman of the Platform Committee, would like to avoid the dilemma. He talks about drafting a platform in keeping with the party's voting record and then nominating a candidate "who will accept it." How would this work? If Goldwater accepted such a platform he would be repudiating his own voting record and if he rejected such a platform he would be repudiating his party's record.

GOV. ROMNEY of Michigan would like to avoid the dilemma and he is contending that if a "forward" platform is not forthcoming from the Platform Committee, the issue ought to be openly fought out on the floor of the convention. That might be a healthy thing but it would not resolve the dilemma that it must either reject its own past or compel Sen. Goldwater to reject his.

Obviously if Gov. Scranton were to achieve the miraculous and win the nomination, the dilemma would disappear because Scranton's views parallel his party's. But the prospect of a Scranton nomination remains thin, bordering on the invisible.

THEREFORE, it is more than probable that the convention will have to choose the lesser of two evils; it will have to accept a platform which either does violence to what it has stood for in recent years or which does violence to what Goldwater has stood for as a Republican Senator.

If Goldwater has a majority of delegates ready to nominate him, he will have a majority of delegates who can conscientiously give him a Goldwater platform.

THE ALLEN-SCOTT REPORT

Prosperity Czar Plan Headed For Opposition

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON:—Congress is headed for a major battle over the sweeping powers President Johnson seeks for his "poverty czar."

Scheduled to begin in the House and Senate after the Republican National Convention, the "big debate" on the poverty program could have as far-reaching an impact on the coming presidential campaign as the fallout from the new civil rights law.

AIDES OF SEN. Barry Goldwater, who voted against the civil rights bill, say he is ready to oppose the poverty program unless the legislation is drastically changed to curb the powers of the federal government and give state and local governments bigger roles.

Sen. Goldwater will have the full backing of Senate and House Republican leaders; They are privately saying President Johnson's program could stir up a "nightmare of trouble" throughout the country rather than stamp out poverty.

The dark heart of this growing GOP opposition centers around the unprecedented authority proposed for the director of the "Office of Economic Opportunity," empowered to select the local agencies or private groups to receive funds under the billion dollar poverty program, and to govern the operation of a 40,000-member Youth Corps.

A preview of the coming public GOP attack against the President's program was outlined by Representative Peter Frelinghuysen, R-N. J., in his little-noticed testimony before the Senate Labor Committee.

HE BLUNTLY WARNED that the creation of this powerful new federal position "opens the way for direct federal involvement in the activities of every private organization in every community in the country without the necessity of participation or approval of either state or local government."

"This bill vests in a federal czar both the power of approval of all poverty programs and the more basic power to determine all the criteria for approval. The only authority accorded state governments is the right of the governor to comment on projects carried out in his state," Frelinghuysen charged. "This is so meaningless as to be insulting. Local public officials, however, are not even given this empty courtesy."

When Senator Patrick McNamara, D-Mich., challenged the New Jersey legislator, contending that the bill did not bar the "poverty czar" from using state agencies, Frelinghuysen lashed back:

"THIS IS WHAT I resent. This gives him unwarranted powers. If we think that we should utilize state agencies in one way or another to make a distribution of funds to alleviate the problems of the poor, it seems to me we have an obligation to spell that out."

"What if a state would not cooperate?" asked McNamara.

"I think it unwise to give the federal government the power to give the NAACP or any local citizens' group which might not even be representative of the community, wherever it is, to use federal money to do something that community or state does not want," replied Frelinghuysen.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By BRUCE COLEMAN

There Is Very Little New Under Sausalito's Corporate Sunshine

GOING THROUGH the dead files taken from the basement of the Sausalito City Hall the other day, Charles Brown said he found that it is very apparent that, in city life, certain things repeat themselves.

The records, some of which we glanced at, are being put into chronological order, some being kept only for historical value.

One letter was from J. W. Sperry who wrote Sept. 6, 1912: "The Improvement Club has instructed me . . . and a great many of our prominent citizens have requested me to ask you in their behalf to remove the arch on Water Street (now Bridgeway) opposite the Ferry Building.

"The arch was intended for a temporary structure to commemorate the incoming of the U. S. Fleet in 1908 but was never torn down due to sentimental reasons. It is against town ordinance and a state law to obstruct public highways so as to impede traffic. It wasn't architecturally perfect and it's made of wood . . . and deteriorates with age."

C. G. ASHOFF wrote in 1918 to the board of trustees of the town saying that, "as night watchman of Sausalito, I made visits to all the saloons and find them conducted in an orderly manner."

In 1895, two years after the town was incorporated, the judiciary committee wrote asking that a special election be held to "disincorporate the town."

Teddie Board wrote in 1911: "I beg to notify you that the recent rains caused considerable damage to my house in the shape of flooding the cellar and back entrance; also making the steps at my front entrance have the appearance of a miniature Niagara Falls. I found on investigation that the water was running down the center of the upper road instead of in the gutters and then into my back entrance. My folks, not being experts in the art of rowing, I do not want to be compelled to anchor a boat at my back gate which I can assure you will be necessary as future storms are of any duration."

AL SILVEIRA of Al's Taxi has bought a new cab. He said the old one had traveled 149,000 miles around Mill Valley and that was enough.

Bill's Superette at Stinson Beach, we are told, is selling women's topless swim suits and men's bottomless suits (T-shirts).

It's the Owl, not the Hour, steamboat which used to run between Bolinas and San Francisco, reports Eddie Giesecke. "I rode it in the 20's when I was a kid," said Eddie.

Sally Stapp of Sausalito informs us that her Bedlington terrier, Miss Cricket, and she attended a formal champagne, candlelight opening in Mill Valley the other Sunday of Blue Mist Groomers. The candles were lit, lace tablecloths on the tables and open face sandwiches served. "Your dog sits, not in a cage, but in a stall with wall to wall carpeting where he can watch other dogs getting glamourized," says Sally. "A lot of dogs came to the opening," she added.

FAWNS UNDER the fig tree are not news at the home of Richard O'Hanlon, three having been born there in recent weeks. In the case of one fawn, he said, he saw the doe and her yearling come up to it, then the doe chase the yearling, who apparently just wanted to smell it or "get acquainted."

"The fawn, with no spots yet, moved around under the shrubs until about 10 o'clock when it went up the hill with its mother. The next day the yearling was seen to run back and forth across a field above the house." Friends of the O'Hanlon's suggested this may mean the yearling recognizes its freedom after a new fawn was born.

During the day when the fawn was under the shrubbery, blue jays and towhees kept close watch, chirping to it, O'Hanlon explained. "They were obviously looking at the fawn, keeping track of it."

What If Publishers Add Spice To Children's Book Covers?

WASHINGTON: There was a time when the only way you could get a pornographic book was to smuggle it in from Paris. But in recent years the paperback book industry in the United States has been outdoing anything you could bring in from Paris.

We feel everyone has a right to make a dollar under our free enterprise system and if people want to buy pornographic literature that is their business. What we object to is the publishers making non-pornographic books pornographic by putting half-naked women on the covers of good books and printing descriptions of the contents which give an entirely different idea of the plot.

IF THE TREND continues, here is how our paperback publishers will soon describe some books familiar to all of us:

"Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs"—The story of a ravishing blonde virgin who was held captive by seven deformed men, all with different lusts.

"Cinderella" — A beautiful passionate woman bares her naked foot to the man she loves while her stepmother and stepsisters plot to cheat her out of the one memorable night in her life.

"Alice in Wonderland" — A young girl's search for happiness in a weird depraved world of animal desires. Can she ever return to a normal happy life after falling so far?

"Huckleberry Finn"—A wild youth runs away from his home to help a Negro slave escape from the ravishing Miss Watson.

"LITTLE WOMEN" — Four teenagers, wise beyond their years, are caught up in the throbbing tumult of the Civil War. Read what happens to them when a rich old gentleman and his greedy grandson take rooms as boarders in house without men.

"Tom Brown's Schooldays"—For the first time we look beyond the locked doors of an English boarding school to reveal the truth about a life that no one talks about and only a few will whisper.

"Treasure Island"—The crew of a ship bent on rape and plunder land on an island inhabited by sex-crazed cannibals. An innocent boy finds the secret of growing up.

"LITTLE RED Riding Hood" —A girl goes to visit her grandmother only to discover a wolf in her bed. Read what happens when the girl refuses to get into bed with the wolf.

"Tom Sawyer" — A gang of sub-teenage hoodlums paint the town white, and commit mayhem and murder to satisfy their desires.

"Heidi"—A young lady caught up in the wild life of Switzerland fights for love.

"Babar the Elephant" — Life in the raw.

And so it goes. As for the covers, we'll have to leave that up to the publishers. We hate to think what the paperback artists will do with "Wind in the Willows."

Sonoma-Marin Fair To Honor Late Booster

A memorial to the late Al Schlener, a former chairman of flower exhibits at the Sonoma-Marin fair, will be dedicated this year at the fete, held July 9-12.

The floral remembrance, centered around a waterfall in the outdoor exhibit area, was designed by William Kapranos of San Anselmo.

Kenneth Stewart of Novato is chairman of the 1964 exhibit by Sonoma-Marin Garden Assn. The exhibit's theme will be "floral circus."

Clubs from Marin County participating include: Marinwood Garden Club, Marin Orchid Society, Marin Bonsai and Marin Fuchsia Club.

Today is Monday, July 6, the 188th day of 1964 with 178 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase. The morning stars are Jupiter, Saturn, Venus and Mars.

On this day in history:

In 1699, the infamous pirate Capt. William Kidd was seized in Boston and deported to England.

In 1928, a preview of the first all-talking motion picture, "The Lights of New York," took place in New York City.

In 1944, the most disastrous circus fire in U.S. history occurred in Hartford, Conn., at the Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey show. The toll was 168 dead, 350 injured.

In 1959, Russia orbited two dogs and a rabbit in a space capsule.

A thought for the day: Daniel Webster said: "There is nothing so powerful as the truth, and often nothing so strange."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

After Bidding Victory Play Is Not Important

It's possible to win such a victory in the bidding that the play of the cards doesn't matter.

Mrs. Stella Rebner, of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Alicia Kempner, of Santa Monica, demonstrated this principle by stealing a hand from their opponents in the recent Olympic championships.

Opening lead — ♠ 6

East had a problem over two hearts. Some experts use a double in this position to show strength in the unbid suits, but East wasn't one of those experts.

OTHER SIDE

After East had passed, Mrs. Rebner saw clearly that the hand belonged to the other side. Her own hand was very light, and her partner's raise showed a weak hand with heart support. Somebody had the high cards, after all.

To make life difficult for the opponents, Mrs. Rebner went on to three hearts. Like many American experts, the Rebner-Kempner partnership uses this rebid as a preemptive bid, not as a serious try for game.

The opponents knew this, but still couldn't find a way to get back into the bidding.

MAKES CONTRACT

Mrs. Rebner added to her gains by making three hearts. West opened the six of spades, and the king lost to the ace. East quickly cashed the ace of diamonds, an obvious singleton, and then returned the four of spades.

The play of the spades showed that West had started with five, and the play of the diamonds showed that West had six.

That accounted for eleven of West's cards, and the ace of hearts was surely a twelfth card. Only one card of the West hand was unknown.

ASSUMED RIGHT

Mrs. Rebner correctly assumed that the unknown card was a club and that the ace of hearts was therefore a singleton. Declarer led a low heart from her hand to force out the ace at the least possible cost.

It was then easy to get back to dummy with the king of clubs for a normal heart finesse with the jack. Mrs. Rebner cashed the king of hearts and led clubs until East was ready to ruff. The defenders thus got only two trump tricks, the ace of diamonds and the ace of spades.

It was a pleasure to make three hearts when all the time the opponents were cold for a game in spades.

QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player bids two diamonds.

You hold:
♠ K 3
♥ 9 7 4
♦ Q 7 6 5 2
♣ K 6 4

What do you say?

Answer: Pass.

You haven't quite enough for a penalty double of two diamonds. If your partner reopens the bidding with a double, for takeout, you will pass and thus convert the double into a penalty double.

Picture, with the Independent-Journal very much in the foreground, taken at CHENONCEAUX, famous chateau of Henry II, in France

But your mother wants a family room

Europe is full of castles. But the Independent-Journal is full of homes. To find exactly the kind of house that fits your tastes and your pocketbook, just look in the I-J's intriguing Classified columns. You'll see every size and style of home . . . at every price. Leading realtors and brokers offer their finest listings . . . and their service.

But we warn you: you'll get house fever! Hundreds of people do . . . ending up with the front door keys to happiness. Two, three, five-bedroom dream castles—they're all here in Classified.

Yours is waiting. Take a look. And become king of your castle.

BOX SCORE FOR REAL ESTATE BROKERS

Where do most home buyers come from? Latest research* shows that 63.4% of all home buyers in Marin County come from Marin County itself—only 20% from San Francisco. Marin then, is your top market for buyers. And the Independent-Journal your top advertising medium—covering more than 2 out of every 3 families in Marin. When you advertise outside Marin, you're paying for the "whole loaf" and getting only a slice. When you use the I-J, you're on target with the market—at vastly lower advertising cost.

Superintendent To Attend First Meet In School District

Trustees of the Lagunitas School District will hold their first meeting with new superintendent Marshall J. McCunniff, 39, at the school at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

McCunniff, former superintendent of the Alturas Elementary School District, Modoc County, was hired to replace Clifford L. Frye whose contract was not renewed by the board.

The action last December split the board 3-2 and set off heated debate and protest in the community. The action led to the recall of one trustee, Mrs. Georgette Vilas, but by the time she was recalled, the board had already authorized a two-year, $11,000-a-year contract with McCunniff.

Tomorrow's agenda includes board reorganization and a report from the library committee.

WILL YOU FILL THE BILL— TOMORROW?

In a few years, the job market will be different. New skills, new abilities will be wanted. The "good job" you have today may not even exist in the future.

Machines and new methods are always replacing jobs. That's progress. But progress also provides new opportunities—for better-paying jobs. That's where you come in.

You won't get tomorrow's jobs with yesterday's skills

To qualify for the good jobs of tomorrow, you have to re-train. Acquire new abilities, so you can fill the bill. And earn a better living at the same time.

It won't be that easy. But nothing as important as your future ever is. Take a step in the right direction this week, and talk to the local office of your state employment service.

Drainage District On Agenda

Steps toward financing and forming a drainage district on the Tiburon Peninsula are expected to be taken tonight by Belvedere city councilmen and by directors of the Tiburon Sanitary District.

The proposed assessment district would pay for construction of a culvert down Beach Road to the cove and a ponding area back of the Safeway store on Tiburon Boulevard, from where water could be pumped to the bay. Also to be constructed is a pump next to the present Tiburon Sanitary District pump near Beach Road and the Tiburon Highway.

Total cost of the work is estimated between $120,000 and $130,000, Robert Sterling, secretary of the sanitary district, reported.

Belvedere City Council is expected to decide whether the city will pay a share in the project. Also expected to aid in financing the project, aimed at stopping flooding in the area, is the State Division of Highways.

Sterling said that Fred G. Zelinsky, whose land comprises one-quarter to one-third of the 25-acre area of the proposed district, has agreed to his share of about $35,000 toward construction. Sufficient land owners in the area have signed petitions approving formation of the district.

The district would cover areas in Belvedere and Tiburon, but only Belvedere is being asked to contribute to the district.

Belvedere is being asked to contribute because formation of the district to stop flooding will make street maintenance easier and will divert flood waters from the lagoon, eliminating very high water and silting, engineer Bruce Collins of Kennedy Engineers, San Francisco, said.

The only Tiburon street in the district is a small portion of Beach Road, Collins said. The engineering company is expected to detail plans for the district at the sanitary district meeting Monday.

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Henry Cabot Lodge today began a two-day campaign in Kansas and Missouri in an effort to win support for Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton for the Republican presidential nomination.

The Muir Woods Natural History Assn. has "arrived at the point of becoming incorporated," according to association president Hilary H. Crawford Jr., but its prospective activities as still unclear and Crawford plans to visit the California Alpine Club this weekend and get some ideas for his embryo group.

Generally, Crawford says, the association will help the National Park Service inform the public about the park's various aspects, and to this end one of the association's members, Gladys L. Smith, has written a booklet entitled "Flowers and Ferns of Muir Woods" which is on sale at the park.

The association is being organized at the suggestion of Park Ranger Arthur A. Volz. Besides Crawford, Miss Smith and Volz, the board of directors includes Park Supt. James L. McLaughlin, Dr. Edgar Wayburn, past president of the Sierra Club, Gerritt Orton, and George L. Collins.

The board will meet next at 8 p.m. Sept. 22 at Muir Woods to decide membership dues.

Col. Joseph O. Killian of Novato was presented an Oak Leaf cluster to the Legion of Merit at a private ceremony at the Presidio of San Francisco on his retirement last week.

Killian retired as chief of the engineer division of the Sixth Army. He was presented the Oak Leaf cluster by Lt. Gen. Frederic J. Brown, Sixth Army commanding general.

The colonel came to the Sixth Army from Washington, D.C., where he had served as inspector general of the Corps of Engineers and as executive to the chief of engineers. Before going to Washington in 1957, he served three years with SHAPE headquarters in Paris.

Killian was graduated in 1934 from West Point. He served in seven campaigns and an amphibious landing in North Africa and Italy in World War II, during which he was commander of the 19th Engineer Regiment and later corps engineer of the Second Corps.

He has also served as Corps of Engineers executive officer in the Los Angeles District; district engineer at Albuquerque, N.M.; engineer supply officer at the San Antonio General Depot; commanding officer of the Pasco (Wash.) Bagley Is Due To Testify On Appraisers Assemblyman William T. Bagley (R-San Rafael) will testify before the Assembly Ways and Means Committee meeting, in Los Angeles Wednesday, asking support of his bill to place inheritance tax appraisers, now appointive, under civil service.

Payment of part-time, non-professional inheritance tax appraisers by giving them a part of the estate they appraise is like paying part-time, non-lawyer traffic judges a percentage of the fines they levy," Bagley said in a prepared statement today.

Currently, the 144 tax appraisers in the state are the political appointees of State Controller Alan Cranston, Bagley said.

The Assembly Ways and Means Committee, in its interim study of the Bagley bill will consider an alternative measure he authored. This would transfer inheritance tax appraisal to assessors' offices in the counties throughout the state. Other suggestions will also be considered.

Bagley estimated that his measure could save the state as much as one million dollars a year.

The youngsters were carrying a blowtorch, firemen said. They were reprimanded and turned over to their parents by police.

The council meeting, starting at 8 p.m., has 29 items on its agenda, ranging from a bay fill moratorium ordinance proposed by the Assn. of Bay Area Governments to opening of bids for a restroom building at Victor Jones Park.

Among other items will be a presentation on a community television antenna system. The council will also consider the resolution adopted by the Sausalito City Council urging that the "cycle reappraisal" system of property assessment be outlawed.

City Plunge Report Due In Novato

The Novato Parks and Recreation Advisory Commission will hear a report on the first two weeks of operating the new swimming pool at its regular meeting at 8 tonight in the community house.

Edmund Mahaney, parks and recreation director, will report on the attendance and income from the city owned pool on the Novato High School campus.

The commission will also take up plans for making a pioneer memorial park out of the old Novato cemetery. The council two weeks ago passed a resolution to take over the cemetery, effective Sept. 8.

Other items to be considered by the commission include a tree ordinance, renovation of the community house and a report on the summer recreation program.
